Bike thefts on increase

If you have a bike and want to keep it, then put it away in a safe place. Bike thieves are running rampant in Romulus.

That's the word from Sgt. David Early from the Romulus Police Department who urges citizens to keep their bikes in secured places. "We've had about six reports of bike thefts per day and the problem is citizens do not have the makes or serial numbers of their bikes."

"So, if they are stolen we have no way of tracing it when they make a report," Sgt. Early said. "We have a room full of recovered bikes here and we're without serial numbers to trace back to the original owners."

Romulus doesn't have a bike licensing program, Sgt. Early said, "but the department is considering instituting one in the near future."

Seek Labor Day parade participants

Romulus Parks and Recreation Department is seeking groups or individuals to participate in the city's Labor Day Parade which will take place during the Labor Day weekend, Sept. 3 to Sept. 6.

Also, persons interested in setting up arts & craft booths and concession stands should contact Tony Copas (941-0323) or Gene Terecki (941-1640).

Those who wish to participate in the parade should contact Kathy McCallum at 941-3092.

Jaycees raise $350 for scoreboard

The Elmer Johnson Park softball field will soon be sporting an electric scoreboard thanks to the local Jaycees who held a fundraiser.

The Jaycees managed to raise approximately $350 toward the scoreboard through a raffle that ended with three residents — Mike Moomauw, Jerry Turner and Jerry Vaughn winning up as first, second and third place winners, respectively.

The Jaycees will also host a "Horseshoe Tournament" at 10 a.m., Aug. 28 in the Elmer Johnson Park. There is a $10 per team (2 players to a team) registration fee. First place winners will be awarded $100 while the runner-up and third place finishing teams will get $75 and $50 respectively.

For further information, telephone Fred Minda at 729-1754.

Milliken to fill 5 V-B board vacancies Mahalak, Mack, Sullivan win in primary

Board remains without quorum

Gov. William Milliken will apparently have a say in who will govern Van Buren Township during the next three months. The Governor has the authority under state law to fill the five vacancies created on the township board by last week's successful recall.

Recalled from office were township supervisor Patricia Cullin, clerk Doreen Craven, treasurer Tom Welty, and trustees Tim Toohey and Chester Wojcie.

According to Wayne County Clerk James Killen's office, the governor has the authority to appoint and fill the vacancies if the township board is left without a quorum. Since five of the seven members have been recalled and the deputy clerk and deputy treasurer are appointed officials and not elected, they do not have voting status on the board.

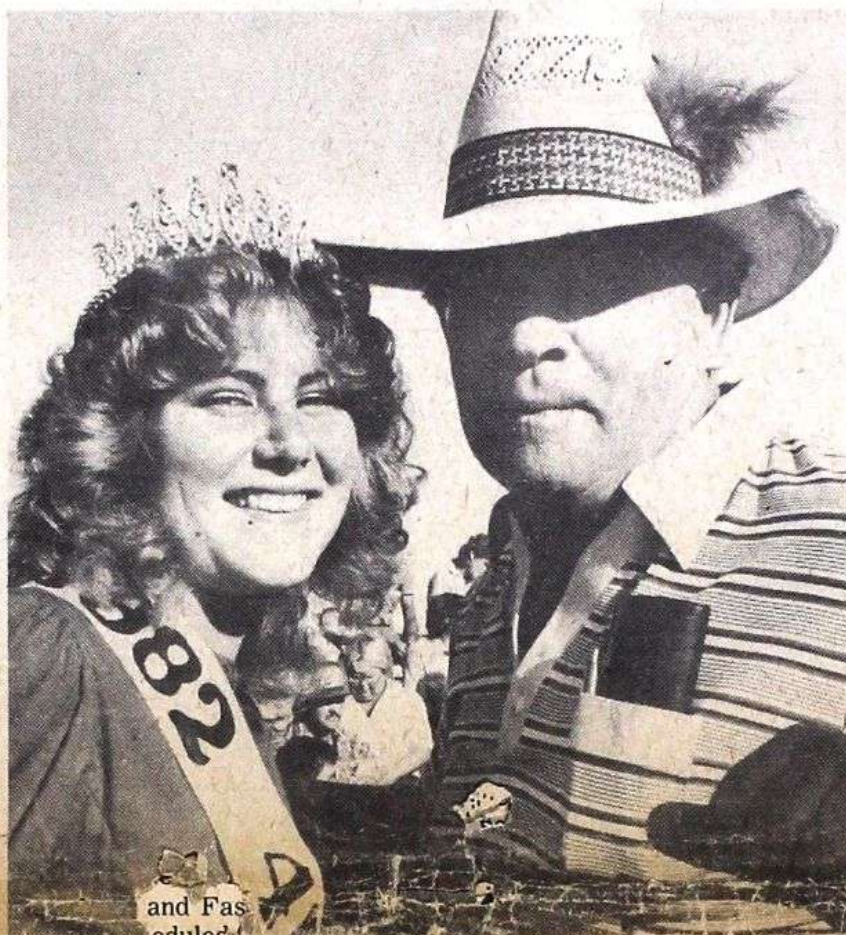

"Apparently after the election is certified, Van Buren Township will not be able to exist without a quorum," said Robert Ficano, deputy county clerk who had researched the question. "The two deputies in this case are appointees and, according to what I have been able to determine they are disqualified from making board level decisions."

Ficano said that "townships and counties are creatures of the state, therefore, the power to appoint was invested in the governor and in this case it's Mr. Milliken."

The temporary appointees will serve until an election is held, in this case until the November 2 General Election. In the meantime, it will be up to the Democratic and Republican Parties' executive committees in the 15th Congressional District to come up with a slate of officers for the offices available.

Although none of the recalled elected officials will be able to run for offices they were ousted from, they may seek an office other than the one they served at the time voters recalled him.

The Board of Canvassers were scheduled to meet on Aug. 14 to certify the primary and special election results. If the results are certified, then the county clerk's office will immediately inform the governor of the status of the township (See VAN BUREN—Page 3A)

Beauty and Mr. Block

It wasn't all work and no pleasure for auctioneer Junior Block during last week's County Fair. Block, who serves as a Romulus city councilman, got to meet the County Fair Queen, pretty Dawn

William of Dearborn. The week-long festivities ended Saturday at the fairgrounds on Quirk Rd. as Block auctioned off livestock and poultry. No further comment, please.

Belleville begins hunt for city manager

The City of Belleville is shopping around for its first city manager.

Voters in this city made that possible by approving a new city charter which abolished the "strong mayor type of government" and established for the first time in the history of Belleville a city manager-council form of government.

"I am very grateful to the people of this city for approving the new charter," said Belleville Mayor Justin Emerson, who was a strong backer of the new document. "Now that we have a new charter, let's work together to make it work."

The charter narrowly was accepted by a five vote margin, 251-246. No one has stepped forward to challenge the results of last Tuesday's election. They had until 5 p.m. yesterday to do so, according to Mayor Emerson.

The city charter will go into effect on Wednesday, Sept. 1 and the council then will proceed to advertise for a city manager. The qualifications for the man who will be responsible to council for the workings of the various city departments are set forth under the charter. He or she will receive between $23,000 to $25,000 a year.

The council, which will continue to be made up of four councilpersons and a mayor, will be responsible of hiring and firing the city manager. Under the new charter, there will be no commissioners and the city manager will be in charge of all of the departments.

"We hope to begin interviews as soon as possible," Emerson said.

The new city manager is expected to take charge Jan. 1, 1983.

Challenged from within his own city and from without, veteran lawmaker Edward Mahalak emerged from the state primaries last Tuesday to become the Democratic Party's nomination for the state House of Representatives in the realigned 37th District.

Unlike his party colleagues, Congressman William Ford (D-15) and William Faust (D-12), the state Senate Majority Leader, Mahalak faced a fight for political survival with attorney Roger J. Cadaret, also of Romulus, and Canton Township planner James Kosteva providing the opposition.

Mahalak received 2,991 votes to turn back his closest rival, Kosteva, who had 2,022. Cadaret finished a distant third with 1,295 votes. Also seeking the job on the Democratic side was Betty Jo Price who got 991 votes.

Mahalak will meet Republican candidate Theodore W. Jacques in the November 2 general election, but is considered a heavy favorite in the Democratic-dominated district.

In another key battle, Wayne attorney Milton Mack edged Canton's Doug Ritter in a close race 2,510 to 2,394 to become the nominee on the Democratic ticket in November for the Wayne County Commission from the 11th District.

Mack's opposition will come from the successful Republican candidate, Loren Bennett, a member of the Canton Township Board of Trustees.

Huron Township Supervisor Richard F. Sullivan captured the Democratic nomination for the 21st District state House seat. Sullivan received 1358 votes as compared to 1280 for Jacqueline Roussel. The successful candidate will take on former Huron Township supervisor, Roy Raker who won the nomination on the Republican ticket.

It will also be Democrat James Blanchard and Republican Richard Headlee facing off for the Governor's seat in the November general election, but voters in Western Wayne County had a different idea, heavily favoring L. Brooks Patterson as the Republican candidate.

A moderate voter turnout for the partisan primary election last Tuesday also found voters favoring incumbent U.S. Senator Donald Reagle and Republican Philip Ruppe for the six-year term that's up for grabs.

In the 12th Congressional District, incumbent Democrat William D. Ford handily defeated Gerald Carlson for his party's nomination. Challenging him this fall as the Republican candidate will be Mitchell Moran.

On the county's request for a 1-mill tax levy to fund county operations and erase a ballooning deficit, voters resoundly defeated it, in some cases by a 7-to-1 margin. The School Bd. ponders millage language Trustees to hold special meeting on Monday

Whether the Van Buren Community School District voters will be faced with another long shopping list of millage proposals or one or two specific recommendations will be determined Monday night when the Board of Education meets in special session.

Board trustees "kicked around" several ideas Monday night but couldn't agree on the language for the October 2 special election. The Board has until next week to formulate a proposal or proposals to meet the deadline for the rare Saturday, Oct. 2 election.

Van Buren voters on three separate occasions within a span of 16 months have denied the school district any extra millage. The board has cut back, "until we are down to the bone," according to Connie Brinkerhoff, board president.

"The voters in this school district have told us through the ballot boxes that they are not going to give us additional millage," Mrs. Brinkerhoff said after the meeting. "We understand what they are saying."

"However, we would be delinquent in our jobs not to point out to them that this school district is in need of money. We are down to the bone and these children deserve better."

Mrs. Brinkerhoff pointed out that the board is studying "two schools of thoughts on the subject."

"Should we ask for a mill or two to keep this school district afloat financially or do we urge them for more so that we can reinstate programs and provide a decent education for all of the students in this district?"

The Board and members of a citizens committee have been coordinating their efforts to come up with the millage language. Both groups feel that the proposal will be ready after Monday, Aug. 23's special board meeting.

The meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the Board offices, 555 W. Columbia.

In another matter, the board tabled a Civil Rights Compliance

Plan in order that board members could review and study it more thoroughly. Raymond Kohr, Director of Personnel for the schools, explained the reason for the plan and offered an explanation in the board's action.

"Last November the Civil Rights auditors from the State Department of Vocational Education audited our vocational ed. program," Kohr said, "and following their evaluation they provided us with a report that indicated what areas needed strengthening and/or revision."

"Although these areas were minor in our case," Kohr continued, they still needed a plan as to how we were going to go about correcting them. This plan was developed by the school's personnel staff and was submitted for preliminary approval.

"This summer we received notification from the Department of Vocational Education that our plan met with their approval, however, before it can become a legal document it needed official recognition by the Board of Education."

"Monday night the board was made aware of the plan but elected to spend more time reviewing it before acting upon it," Kohr concluded.

The board is expected to give its stamp of approval of the plan.

WCCC to host seminar

Dr. Friedman tackles problems of the unemployed

Judging from the response Henry Ford and Schoolcraft Community Colleges received at their recent career opportunities and coping seminar, Wayne County Community College's Western Center could have a full house on August 28, according to WC3 conference organizers.

"Where Do We Go From Here?" the conference theme, keynoted by psychologist Dr. Sonya Friedman.

"The loss of a job can be the ultimate threat to the very nature of a man who sees himself as a provider and breadwinner for his family." — DR. SONYA FRIEDMAN host of WDIV-TV's "Sonya" show, has drawn over 2,000 unemployed, Detroit Metropolitan people over the last 10 weeks.

The free, day long conference will offer information on opportunities for unemployed, provided by community colleges and social service organizations in the tri-county area.

WCCC faculty and staff will be available to showcase the vocational facilities of the Western Center as well as conduct sessions on employment outlook, resume writing, career programs and financial aid.

Pre-registration is required, call 699-0216.

To help people solve short-term problems while being unemployed, exhibits and discussion sessions will address problems dealing with marital and family conflicts, creditors and debts, self image, motivation and job seeking.

"We are planning for 1,000 people on August 28," said Western Regional Dean Dr. Julius Brown.

"Although this is only a fraction of the 600,000 unemployed in Michi-

Will your car be stolen and chopped up?

Professional auto theft has recently changed in nature. Formerly concentrating on the stealing and subsequent sale of stolen cars, it now involves a profitable business called chop shops that sell extracted untraceable parts.

One reason for the growth of chop shops is their high profit and low risk. Another is that most parts are unidentifiable. A third reason is the high demand for parts.

Chop shops comprise a sophisticated, stratified industry involving different specialists who perform various tasks resulting in an average 20 minute vehicle dismantlement process. An estimated 25 percent of the 1,097,189 vehicles stolen last year were disposed of in chop shop operations.

Autos represented 74.7 percent of the vehicles stolen in 1980, with a theft occurring every 28 seconds.

According to the National Automobile Theft Bureau (NATB), auto theft losses in 1981 accounted for approximately $3.3 billion nationwide, with only 58 percent of the cars recovered. Also, indications are that 25 percent of auto theft is fraud. Another 25 percent results from keys left in the ignition.

Robert Barber, assistant vice president and manager of property loss for Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, suggests the following simple rules to decrease the growth of auto theft and possibly prevent the loss of your own vehicle.

- Never leave your engine running or your car double-parked while you run into a store. Although you may be gone only a minute or less, that's about how long it would take a thief to get into your car and steal it.
- Park in well-lighted and well-populated areas only. A thief is less likely to attempt to steal your car in an area with good street or parking lot lighting. Parking in a deserted alley or on a lonely side street poses a danger to both you and your vehicle.
- Always lock your car and take the keys with you. Even if you are leaving your car for only a few minutes, lock it! If you must leave valuables in the car, always put them in the trunk, out of sight.
- Completely close all windows when leaving your car unattended. It's better to return to a car that is poorly ventilated than to return to an empty parking space.
- Avoid leaving your car overnight in repair shops, parking lots and parking garages. The longer your car is out of your sight and control, the greater the risk of having it stolen. If you must leave it overnight, it's suggests that you make sure it will be stored in a secure area.
- Avoid leaving keys with parking lot attendants at public parking lots. It's a very simple procedure for someone to have your keys copied. If you must leave them, make sure the attendant is an authorized employee.
- If possible, install an alarm system or other anti-theft device in your car. A variety of these are available on the market and many can be obtained at a reasonable cost.
- If you park your car in your garage, always lock the door of the garage as well as the door of the car. Protect your vehicle by placing as many obstacles as possible between it and the thief. The more locks and doors the thief has to open, the more difficult it will be to steal the vehicle.
- Don't leave your license or car's title in the glove compartment. This is another invitation to theft and may assist the thief in avoiding detec-

Financial assistance sought for victims of Wayne home fire

A fund has been established by the Wayne Goodfellows to assist a local family left homeless since last month due to extensive fire damage.

Mrs. Elsie Gates, 51, the owner of a two-story home at 34295 Winslow in Wayne and her 16-year-old son escaped injury July 26 as fire fighters battled a blaze that eventually caused an estimated $25,000 worth of damage. Fire officials reported that a cord of an upstairs fan had ignited bedding material to start the fire.

With no insurance to cover the costs, Mrs. Gates and four of her eight children who resided in the dwelling have been forced to live with family members and friends.

Wayne Community Development Director John Zech last week said he was "confident" that the family will qualify for monies through the city's federally funded Housing Rehabilitation Program. Under the guidelines of this program the Gates' family could receive up to $11,000 for materials needed to restore the gutted building, Zech reported.

"We need to determine if they (family members) are capable of doing the work on the house," explained Zech, who noted that the estimated damage exceeded the available amount of funding. "So far it looks like they'll be able to handle it."

Mrs. Gates, who is divorced, is employed at Wayne County Community College for 30 hours per week and nets less than $200 a week without personal benefits or insurance, she told The Associated Newspapers.

She said she no longer receives the Aid to Dependent Children

(ADC) assistance that helped the family survive for years.

Those wishing to make contributions to help the Gates' household replace goods lost in the fire can make donations to the Wayne Goodfellows, in care of Mrs. Virginia Prieskorn, 4157 Second St., Wayne, MI. 48184. Checks should be made payable to the "Gates fund."

Total value of the Gates house has been set at approximately $35,000.

Next on menu-roast pig

If you enjoyed the Romulus Rotary's recent Chicken Roast, the St. Aloysius Usher Club has a gigantic "Pig Roast" in store for you. The club is organizing the roast for Sat., Sept. 25 at Kennedy Park and 5-Points, beginning at 11 a.m. until 6 p.m. There is a $5 donation. The proceeds will go to the Alex "Buck" McCraight fund, and volunteer help is needed from individuals and organizations. For ticket information contact Judy White at 941-1214; Olive White at 941-6499 or Karen Shonta at 941-3340. The Rotarians managed to raise approximately $1,200 from its recent chicken dinners and that money will go toward the Easter Seal Foundation projects.

Old Glory

Ed Mahalak, State Representative from Romulus, had a lot to smile about last week. After successfully defeating two challengers for the Democratic nomination in the 37th district, Mahalak (at left) presented a flag that flew over the U.S. Capitol Building to County Fair organizers Tom Tomaszewski (second from left), assistant Director of Michigan's Department of Agriculture, Elmer Abbott, President of the Wayne County Fair Association, and Phyllis Domine, secretary.

Out-going commissioner wants county fiscal year extended

Outgoing Wayne County Commissioner Ervin A. Steiner, Jr. wants to extend the County fiscal year two months and let the new 15-member Board of Commissioners decide the next budget, he says.

Steiner proposed the idea to his colleagues on the current 27-member Board which continues in office until Dec. 31, a month after a new budget is adopted according to existing policy. At present, the County fiscal year runs from Dec. 1 through Nov. 30.

Steiner's plan would remove next year's budgeting responsibility from the current Board and allow the new Board the month of January to develop a new budget. It would also free the current Board of any criticism of the new budget, Steiner told his colleagues.

"Since many of us have not been nominated from the General Election and we are lame ducks, I am going to propose to you that we extend the present budget through December and January, and allow the new 15 commissioners to sit in session in January and formulate a new budget for Wayne County," said Steiner. He continued.

"My rationale for this is that if the budget is wrong they will blame the old (existing) Board of Commissioners and make us fall guys. Again, if the budget is right we will receive no credit whatsoever."

"There is another thought: All the people who campaigned against us had all the answers, knew what to do, and I think they should have the opportunity to form a budget and clear up the deficit as they have stated they will do," Steiner lost to Barbara Gattorn in the First district in the Republican primary election on Aug. 10.

state's 38th District, will face Westland City Councilman Justine Barns in the November election. Barns was top vote getter in a field of six Democrats, garnering 2,645 votes. Close behind was Harry Greenfield with 2,090 votes, followed by Wayne County Commissioner Thomas Presnell, 1,872 votes, Robert Stottleyer, 1,368, Donald Rusnock, 137, and Randy Strong, 125.

In the 33rd State Representative District, which includes a small portion of southern Westland, incumbent Democrat William Keith, unopposed in the Democratic election and with no Republican challenger, gained 305 votes.

In the 12th Senatorial District, incumbent Faust, Senate Majority Leader, handily defeated challengers Jan Reed Bales and Mark Przygocki. Faust garnered 6,511 votes to Bales' 941 and Przygocki's 1,050.

While Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas will be the candidate for county executive in the November election, Westland voters favored Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara, giving him 4,462 votes to Lucas's 3,594. Next highest vote getter for the Democratic nomination was Detroit City Councilman Mel Ravitz with 524.

In the 12th County Commission District, Westland Police Lt. Andrew Spisak lost out in his first bid for elective office, garnering 4,011 votes to incumbent County Commissioner Kay Beard's 6,338. Also in the running was Roman Tafelski who gathered 4,665 votes. All three ran on the Democratic ticket.

In the Republican race, Robert FitzPatrick was the winner.

In the 11th County Commission District, favorite son Mack, a Wayne city Councilman, was the voters' choice in Wayne for the Democratic nomination, with 1,051 votes. A distant second was Douglas Ritter with 157.

Darrell Kress was favored for the Republican nomination with 195 votes.

In CANTON TOWNSHIP, 25 percent of the registered electorate visited the polls for a total of 6,834 votes cast, including absentee ballots.

The voters soundly rejected a proposed 1-mill levy for the purpose of road maintenance with 3,500 no votes outweighing 2,426 votes in favor of the proposal.

Canton voters were strongly behind Democratic gubernatorial candidate James Blanchard awarding him 1,446 votes, while L. Brooks Patterson was the favored Republican candidate, garnering 1,024 votes.

Don Reigle, a Democrat, won the votes of 2,473 of the voters with a Republican Phil Ruppe obtaining a total of 666 votes to become the favored Republican candidate for the office of U.S. Senate. In the race for State Senator from the sixth district, voters gave Democrat Noel Culbert their approval with 2,484 votes and cast 1,020 votes for Republican candidate Robert Geake.

L. William Joyner was the favored Democratic candidate for State Representative in District 36 obtaining 1,648 votes, while local resident Gary Wolfram received 660 votes as the top Republican vote getter. In District 37 for the State Representative job, Canton resident Jim Kosteva, a Democrat, obtained 563 votes while Republican Theodore Jacques earned 264.

County Commissioner candidate from District 11, Douglas Ritter, a Democrat, took 1,142 votes while another local Canton resident and member of the Board of Trustees, Loren Bennett, was the favored Republican with 906 votes.

Canton voters were soundly behind candidate Edward McNamara in the race for County Executive, giving him 1,857 votes as the favored Democrat for the office. Canton voters chose Robert FitzPatrick.

Services conducted for Bunnell

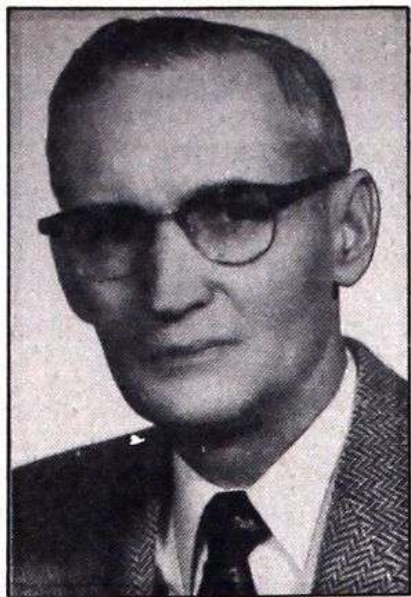

Former Wayne city councilman and businessman Sherman L. Bunnell died last week at Annapolis Hospital following a lengthy illness.

Mr. Bunnell, 82, was the founder and owner of the Bunnell Insurance Agency, established in Wayne in 1933. In addition to a three-year stint on the council (1959-62), he served as Nankin Township clerk beginning in 1938 and later held the post of Nankin Township supervisor (1945-55).

A graduate of Romulus High School, Mr. Bunnell attended Eastern Michigan University and was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church in Westland.

Nature program features bald eagle

A special program on the "Bald Eagle" now touring the country will make a stop at the Nature Center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock on Monday, August 30 at 3:00 p.m.

The story of these majestic birds will be told through slides, a film and "Migisiwa", a live bald eagle. This program, sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation and its local affiliate, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, is being funded by a grant from the Exxon Corporation.

1982 has been declared "The Year of the Eagle" in honor of the 200th anniversary of its selection as our national symbol.

This program is free, except for the required vehicle entry permit (Annual: regular - $7, senior citizens - $2 or daily - $2).

For more information — contact the Nature Center at Oakwoods Metropark - Phone 697-9181 (c/o Belleville).

Huron sets GED examination dates

Huron schools will be administering the G.E.D. Test on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, August 23, 24, and 25, from 5:45 to 9:30 p.m. at the Huron High School Library.

Pre-registration is necessary before the test may be taken. You may pre-register at the adult education office at the Huron High School. Because of summer hours it would be wise to call and make an appointment (782-1505).

The cost is $25 to persons not enrolled in the adult high school completion program and free to those that are Huron adult education students.

2-car crash on Rawsonville Rd.

Belleville man killed in accident

A two-car accident early Monday morning claimed the life of a 21-year-old Belleville man who police said was traveling at a high rate of speed.

The victim, Dean Steven Justice was pronounced dead on arrival at Beyer Hospital in Ypsilanti after the car he was driving struck a second vehicle driven by Sime Stadrewski, also of Belleville.

Stadrewski, 25, was not seriously injured. He was shaken up from the impact of the collision, police said.

According to police reports, Justice was driving at a high rate of speed around 7:30 a.m., in the northbound lane on Rawsonville at

I-94 when he struck the rear of the second vehicle. The victim's car careened and crashed into a concrete abutment, killing the driver.

Police said that neither driver apparently wore seat belts.

gan, we know this will not be the last of the seminars for the unemployed.

"Moving Ahead, Inc., a non-profit foundation formed to aid community colleges in helping the unemployed, has plans to improve and continue this seminar across the state and eventually the nation," he added.

A lunch, provided free of charge, will be held after the morning "opportunities" session followed by "coping" seminars conducted by professionals in psychology and business.

"Develop a Winning Attitude," "Getting to Know the Right People for the Job I Want, and "Stretching My Dollars to Pay My Bills" are topics included in the seminars to be held during the afternoon.

Key speakers include Joan Greenfield, psychologist and Detroit News columnist and Charles Ball, President of Manufacturers Bank of Livonia.

The WCCC conference is being sponsored in cooperation with Henry Ford Community College, WDIV-TV, Moving Ahead, Inc., Tin Lizzie Restaurant, Manufacturers Bank and Dr. Sonya Friedman.

WCCC Western Center is located at 9555 Haggerty Road in Belleville near the intersection of I-94 and I-275. To register by telephone call 699-0216.

Attendance will be limited to the first 1,000 registrants.

Diabetes is theme of class

Persons with Diabetes and their families can learn about the condition of Diabetes Mellitus, its control and treatment through the relationship of diet, exercise, and medication in classes sponsored by the Wayne County Department of Health.

A series of classes for diabetics and their families will begin, September 13, from 7 to 9 P.M. at the South Health Center, 21201 Eureka Road, Taylor and continue for five consecutive Monday evenings.

The diet and self management classes also stress cooperation with the physician, in order to lead an active life. These classes are supported by your tax dollars.

To register for the class call the Wayne County Department of Health at 274-2800 or 729-2211, Extension 258.

T'was buyer's market at County Fair

It was a buyer's market at the Wayne County Fair last Thursday, and the buyers bought "big".

With auctioneer Fred Junior Block in rare form, the Wayne County Livestock Auction was staged and there were a lot of oohs and aahs before the sales were ended.

Bilmar's Super Market of Romulus and its owner William Simonds earned the distinction of being the "top buyer" of the night as the prominent local businessman purchased the Grand Champion pig which weighed in at 225 pounds; the Grand Champion steer, a hefty 1,350 pounds; and the Grand Champion sheep, a 142-pounder.

"The 4-H members and the livestock committee would like to thank Mr. Simonds and the rest of the buyers who supported the sale and the 4-H program throughout the years," said Agnes Cook, a 4-H leader. "This has just been one delightful year."

The other major sales went like this: Grand Champion pair of rabbits and the Grand Champion pair of chickens were purchased by Youtsey Electric, New Boston;

The Grand Champion market goat was bought by Nellis Foodland of Belleville;

The Grand Champion ducks went to L & M meat packing from Monroe, and Grand Champion pair of geese bought by Stans Market from Plymouth. The Grand Champion pair of turkeys was purchased by Garden Fantasy, Belleville.

"These people and fifty two other buyers believe in the 4-H youth program and buying quality meats," Mrs. Cook said.

The top buyers were Bilmar's Supermarket, Romulus; Cliffords Auto Body Shop, Lincoln Park; Stans Market, Plymouth; Romulus Hardware, Romulus; Memerings 5 Point Service, Belleville; Nellis Foodland, Belleville; and Dr. Bartell, Belleville.

There will be a "Buyers" Banquet held Friday September 11, at 7 p.m. at the Co-operative Extension service, Venoy Road, Wayne.

Belleville '72 Class plans reunion

If you're planning to attend the Belleville High Class of 1972 reunion, better hurry and get your reservation to the party organizers.

The reunion will be held on Sept. 25 at the Ramada Inn in Romulus.

Persons to contact for ticket information are Joyce Renton Hamrick at 763-1476; Mary Sterzinger Verrot at 699-7103 or Carol Ruff Lockrey at 439-2694.

Music will be provided by the "Whiz Kids" and the tickets cost $20 per person or $35 per couple.

86 Huron Cubs attend camp

More than 80 Cubs attended "Cub Day" camp organized by the Lower Huron Park, Huron District, last week.

Boys were divided into dens called Owls, Eagles, Turtles, Arrows, Tweety Birds, Frogs, Casper, Snoopy, and Snoopy Dog Houses, Woody Woodpeckers.

The scouts attended: Archery taught by O. A. Members; B. B. Gun by Jaycee's — John Banks group; Thelma Addison Crafts, Hike by park ranger, Mrs. Green — preopening, Catherine Howard — Games 2, Ginger Kelgore games 1, Dennis Cone obstacle course, Shelia Puhl nature, Janet McNeely closing, Dorothy Gillespie refreshments, Linda Banks, Linda Oke — registration, 11. Chris King — cooking, 12. Goldie Hoffman songs and camp co-ordinator.

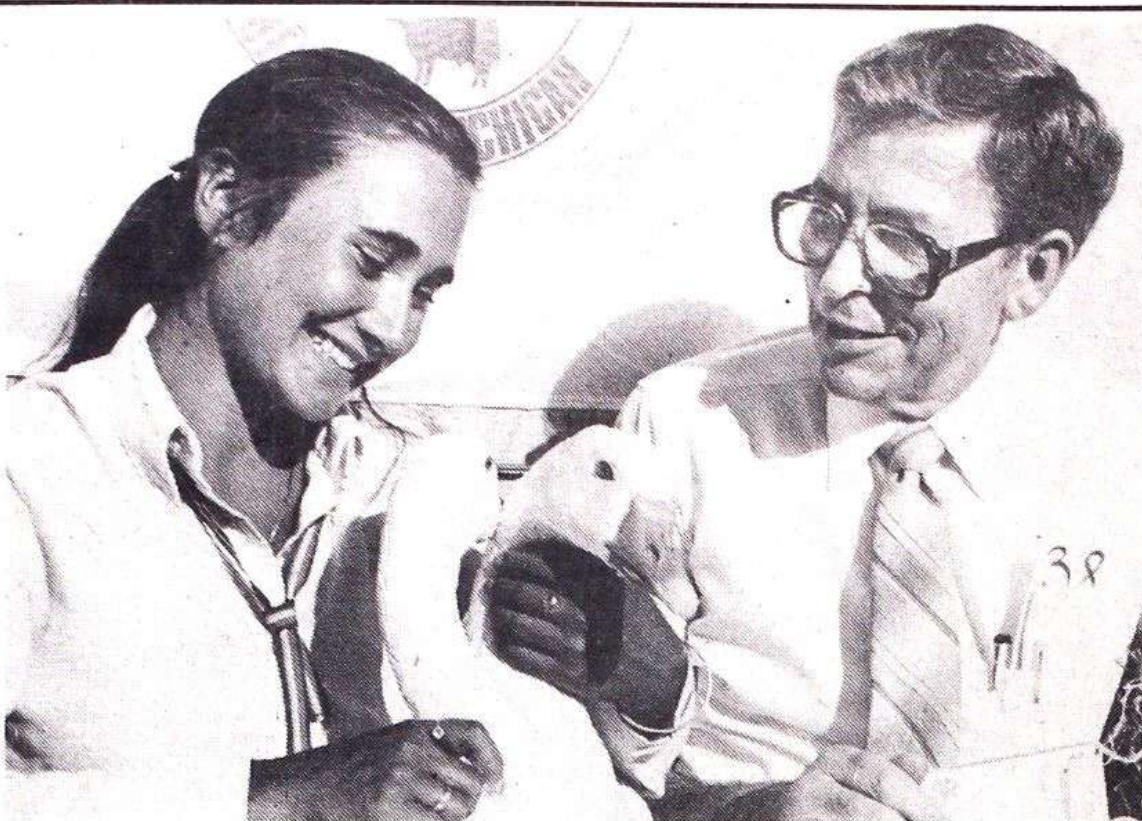

Boys earned a special Day Camp patch for attending. They made grass hair growing bottles and coffee can stilts and crafts.

Koolaid and cookies were served daily, with special ice cream for last day donated by Calders in Lincoln Park.

The Order of Arrow Indian dancers entertained the Cubs — led by Stephen Gardiner and Chris King drumming for special treat.

Terry Mixer, scout executive, led the boys in a bear hunt which is becoming a favorite and only one scraped skin reported by First Aid. Hugh Sole of Belleville

These two little geese went to market

It was a buyer's market at the Wayne County Fair last week and Bill Simonds (at right), who earned the title of Grand Champion buyer, looks over the Grand Champion geese raised by Plymouth's lovely Margaret Balogh. Simonds, a prominent Romulus businessman who owns and operates Bilmar's Supermarket in downtown Romulus, admired the geese but bought a 1,350 pound Grand Champion steer during the auction which features livestock and poultry.

Air disaster in Romulus — Metro crew is ready

Two major air crashes this year — in Washington, D.C. and New Orleans — are grim reminders that despite aviation's overall high safety records while flying millions of passengers annually, airline accidents can and do occur.

Fortunately, Metropolitan Wayne County Airport, housed in Romulus, the major airport facility in the state built and operated by the Wayne County Road Commission for over 50 years, has never experienced a fatal accident involving a major airline.

The airport's safety record is a high tribute to the vigilance and high standards insisted on over the years by the Board and upheld by the latest training techniques and the best equipment money can provide to assist the Board's well-trained crash-fire rescue crews.

In the latest expenditure, the Road Commission recently took acceptance of two new 47-foot long, 4,000 gallon capacity crash fire rescue trucks manufactured by Oshkosh, each costing over $563,000, to replace several smaller trucks at the airport.

"We're extremely proud of Metro Airport's outstanding safety record, and we pray that these very expensive rescue vehicles never have to be used," said Mrs. Grace R. Hampton, Road Commission chairperson.

Claude Dukes, Vice-Chairman of the Board was equally vocal in his hope that the best of all use would be "if these trucks never have to be moved from their fire-house bays."

Both board members, however, er, noted that in the event of an emergency, Metro Airport's fire department was ready, fully trained and equipped with the latest in-fire fighting equipment. "There's not an airport in the nation that has better facilities, personnel or equipment," said Freddie G. Burton, the Board's Managing Director and Director of Aviation.

The new trucks are considered the finest in rapid intervention (quick response) and are fully capable of hitting 50 miles per hour in 40 seconds while fully loaded with 4,000 gallons of water and 515 gallons of chemical agent to produce a foam or film to quickly extinguish a flammable liquid fire.

Metro Fire Chief, Robert Baers, noted that the trucks are equipped with dual diesel engines either capable of operating the vehicles over or through extremely harsh terrain, such as ditches, mud, small obstacles such as 18-inch walls or rock formations when answering a call.

"We train constantly and are confident we will measure up to any situation encountered — but would prefer that our professional services are never needed at this airport," Chief Baers said.

If an air disaster should occur...

One expensive bit of equipment that the Metropolitan Airport hopes it will never have to use is a 47-foot long, 4,000 gallon crash fire rescue truck (in background) put through a test run last week at the airport. On hand to admire one of the two trucks purchased at over $563,000 each, are Claude Dukes (from left), vice chairman of the Wayne County Road Commission; Grace Hampton,

Views On Dental Health

By KENNETH A. FOX, D.D.S.

THE CANTILEVER BRIDGE

The best way to replace a missing tooth (or teeth) is by anchoring the artificial replacement to natural teeth on both sides — just like a bridge over a river is supported on both shores.

There are some specific situations, however, where a bridge can be attached to only one adjacent tooth. This is called a cantilevered bridge. Such a bridge is most often found in the front of the mouth. Back teeth, used for grinding and subject to tremendous strain (often over 300 pounds per square inch) are poorer risks for the cantilever bridge. The front teeth, used for cutting, suffer much less pressure (about 75 pounds per square inch).

Since front teeth are not employed for grinding, they can more readily chance carrying the load of the replacement tooth with only one tooth supporting it. However, cantilever bridges are occasionally used in the back of the mouth, mostly when the missing tooth is the farthest tooth back. The dentist may attach it to two, three or even four teeth in front of the space (the more supporting teeth, the stronger the cantilever) to support it.

A public service to promote better dental health. From the office of KENNETH A. FOX, D.D.S., 9840 Haggerty Rd., Belleville. Phone 697-4400.

Youth, 13, to face plastic surgery after 2 dogs attack

A 13-year old Canton Township youth was attacked and severely bitten by two dogs last week.

The victim, Kevin Schuessler, was collecting from customers on his paper route when the incident occurred, according to police reports. Apparently the youth was waiting at the front door for the dogs owner to return with the paper fee when the two dogs lunged through the unlatched door and knocked him to the ground.

The dogs, a bull mastiff weighing approximately 100 pounds and a mixed boxer weighing about 65 pounds, repeatedly bit the youth who suffered severe and multiple bites and lacerations to his right forehead, ear, head, shoulder, arm and leg. According to the police report, chunks of flesh appeared to be missing from the victim's body.

Hearing the screams of his wife who was unsuccessful in calling the dogs off the boy, the owner rushed from upstairs in his home where he had been when the initial attack occurred. He reportedly forced the dogs into a car to keep them from the boy, police indicated.

The dog owner then drove the victim to Oakwood Hospital where he was treated for his extensive injuries. The boy was released from the hospital Monday, but may undergo extensive plastic surgery, police sources indicated.

The dogs, according to the police report, had exhibited no previous signs of hostility and there had been no previous incidents of this nature. The owner, Thomas Mayes, has voluntarily requested that the animals be destroyed following the mandatory 10-day quarantine at the Humane Society to determine if rabies might exist. While the owner stated that the dogs were vaccinated, they were not registered, according to township records.

Canton Police Chief Jerry Cox commented that he had seen this happen four times in his police experience and that it, "comes out of nowhere." He noted that a recent report indicates that more than 7,000 cases of rabies had been reported last year, and that it is imperative that all animals, cats and dogs be vaccinated. Cox had approached the township board earlier this year regarding a strict enforcement policy on licensing and a method of policing pet owners to insure animals were vaccinated and licensed.

"This is very, very sad," the chief said. "I talked to the boy and he seems to be handling this very well, but he may end up with emotional scars. He is reportedly recovering from the bites, but the amount or necessity of surgery is still a question."

The boy's mother refused comment on the incident noting that only bitterness and animosity could be caused and that she felt none of those things. "I'd just rather not be quoted," she said.

Weinberg participates in SAC's Global Shield maneuvers

Airman Bernard L. Weinberg Jr., son of Bernard L. Weinberg of 50333 Willis Road, Belleville, has participated in an Air Force Strategic Air Command (SAC) exercise called Global Shield 82.

Weinberg, an aircraft maintenance specialist with the 305th Organizational Maintenance Squadron at Grissom Air Force Base, Ind., joined others from all SAC units in the United States and selected Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard units to take part in command post and field training exercises.

Global Shield 82 was the fourth such exercise held by the command in as many years. It was designed to enhance readiness and the ability of the command to carry out orders which support U.S. national policy, should deterrence fail.

Ronald L. Dunlap, son of Virginia Dunlap of 367 Hart Place, Ypsilanti, and brother of Sherrie Dunlap of 46070 Belleville Road, Belleville, received practical work in military leadership at the Army ROTC Advanced Camp at Fort Bragg, N.C.

The six-week training includes instruction in first aid, communications, marksmanship, orienteering, weapons systems, defensive and offensive tactics, reconnaissance techniques and other areas.

Most cadets fulfill their advanced camp requirement during the summer between their junior and senior years in college. The successful completion of the advanced camp and graduation from their respective college or university will result in the student's being commissioned a second lieutenant in the active Army or the U.S. Army Reserve or National Guard.

Dunlap is a student at Morehouse College, Atlanta.

He is attending ROTC at Georgia Institute of Technology, Atlanta.

David C. Clark, Jr., 19, son of David and Sharon Clark, 28711 Halecreek, Romulus, has entered the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to Technical Sergeant Ed Lehmann, the Air Force recruiter here, Clark will commence four years active duty on Dec. 27, undergoing six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

The Air Force has guaranteed that Clark, a 1981 graduate of Romulus High School, will then receive training in the general aptitude area, and upon completion will be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Belleville to host St. Jude Bike-A-Thon

The Central Regional office of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital announced today that Ted Clayton will chair the St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital Bike-A-Thon in Belleville.

The funds raised in this years event will go to support the hospitals programs of research, patient care, and education.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which affect children. St. Jude's is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory and provides total medical care to over 4,200 patients.

At St. Jude's, scientists and physicians are working side by side seeking not only better means of treatment, but also the cause, cure, and prevention of these terrible killers.

All findings and information gained at St. Jude's are shared freely with doctors and hospitals the world over. Thanks to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, children who have leukemia, hodgkins disease, sickle cell anemia, and other child killing diseases now have a better chance to live.

The funds raised in the Bike-A-Thons this fall will assure the continuation of the life giving work at the hospital.

The concern which Clayton has for the work being performed at St. Jude is greatly appreciated, and the children hope that the citizens of Belleville will support the upcoming Bike-A-Thon whole heartedly.

"PEANUT BUTTER, POTATO CHIPS AND CHICKEN"

What do these have in common? They all come within the "Pricing and Advertising of Consumer Items Act."

Last week I told you the definitions of terms as used in this Act. Read these definitions in conjunction with this article.

The Act requires that the total price of a consumer item displayed or offered for sale at retail shall be clearly and conspicuously indicated in arabic numerals, so as to be readable and understandable by visual inspection, and shall be stamped upon or affixed to the consumer item. If the consumer item is in a package or contained, the total price shall be stamped upon or affixed to the outside surface of the package or container and need not be placed directly upon the consumer item.

The above requirements do not apply to:

- A consumer item sold by weight or volume which is not in a package or container. (e.g. fruit, vegetables).

- A consumer item sold in a coin operated vending machine.

- Prepared food intended for immediate consumption, as defined by Michigan law.

- A consumer item ordered by the consumer by mail, through catalog order, or which is not otherwise visible for inspection by the consumer at the time of the sale. Such items must have the price of the item on the consumer's written order, bill or invoice and be enclosed with the item.

- An unpackaged food item. (e.g. a pickle from a barrel).

- A consumer item which has a total weight of not more than 3 ounces, a total volume of not more than 3 cubic inches and a total price of not more than 30 cents.

- Live plants.
- Live animals.
- Motor vehicles.
- Motor vehicle parts.

- Packages of 20 or fewer cigarettes.

- Greeting cards sold individually which have a readable coded price on the back of the card.

- Merchandise ordered as a gift which is sent by the retailer by mail or other delivery service to a person other than the purchaser.

Read this column next week for further information about the Pricing and Advertising of Consumer Items Act.

Hold marathon dance for MD

Enhance Health and Training Center in Belleville is holding an Aerobic Marathon to help raise funds for the fight against Muscular Dystrophy. The fundraiser will take place on Aug. 21 between noon and 5 p.m. at the center's facility located at 392 Main Street.

There is a $2 donation to participate in the aerobic marathon, and participants are also urged to get pledges from friends and relatives.

Fresh peach-coconut pie

Talk about peachy planning. Fresh peaches are in local markets and this recipe for Peach Coconut Pie fits perfectly into your dessert party plans. Vacations are a good reason to assemble friends. Set a date that coincides with someone's vacation and make it a surprise. An island theme is a cooling thought. This light, refreshing pie ties it all in because it has fresh fruit and even a garnish of toasted coconut.

Fortunately, you had frozen whipped topping stashed in the freezer. Of course, you always use it as a topping, but this pie called for thawed frozen whipped topping as a main ingredient in the recipe. The topping, combined with almond extract, was blended into prepared, thickened peach flavor gelatin. Finally, chopped fresh peaches and toasted flaked coconut were folded into the mixture before it was chilled in a crumb crust. A garnish of additional fresh peaches and toasted flaked coconut dressed up the pie.

Peach Coconut Pie

- 1 package (3 oz.) Jell-O peach flavor gelatin
- ½ cup boiling water
- 2 cups ice cubes
- ¼ teaspoon almond extract
- 1 container (8 oz.) Cool Whip non-dairy whipped topping, thawed
- 1 cup coarsely chopped peeled fresh peaches
- ½ cup flaked coconut, toasted
- 1 baked 9-inch graham cracker crumb crust, cooled

Dissolve gelatin completely in boiling water, stirring 3 minutes. Add ice cubes and stir constantly until gelatin is thickened, about 2 to 3 minutes. Remove any unmelted ice. Blend extract into whipped topping in container. Using wire whip, blend whipped topping into gelatin; then whip until smooth. Fold in peaches and ½ cup of the coconut. Chill, if necessary, until mixture will mound. Spoon into pie crust. Chill 2 hours. Garnish with remaining coconut and additional peach slices, if desired.

Quotes worth quoting . . .

"Time is so fleeting that if we do not remember God in our youth, age may find us incapable of thinking about Him."

Hans Christian Anderson said it.

potpourri

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

After the parade of minor catastrophes that've marched through this person's routine of late, I feel justified in wanting to amend "Murphy's Law" to read "Lee's Law." You all know about Murphy's — the theory that if there's anything to go wrong, it will?

Well, old Murph doesn't have an exclusive right to that premise anymore and I'm here to claim squatter's rights — at least around the ol' BGS Ranch where things have taken a sudden downward spin.

Take last week, for instance, when I pulled my never-fail kahlua pecan pie out of the oven and found it practically BOILING — it DOES puff a bit as it bakes but this was ridiculous! Plus the nuts were way darker than usual and there was a definite hint of "overdone" in the air.

If you're a Murphy's Believer you'll know at once that this good, old, reliable pie was earmarked for consumption outside-the-family-circle — a potluck dinner where the distaff side of the guest list numbered some of "the" best culinary artists in the area.

Hell and damnation, I muttered, as I set the thing to cool; what in blazes is wrong with that oven!

The ingredients, I knew, were precise since I'd double-checked the recipe before pouring the mixture into the pie shell. Guess I'll have to get that darn thermostat checked, I continued to mutter.

But, lo and behold, if that comic strip light bulb didn't switch on somewhere in the neighborhood of 3:50 a.m., Lee, you dumb doe-doe, the next comic strip frame continued, you baked the poor thing at 400 degrees for the entire 40 minutes! You've made this pie often enough; don't you remember it's 400 for 10 minutes and 325 for the remaining time! Never read the recipe THROUGH, tho —; you know — for directions? Whatta schlemiel!

On reassessing my work-of-art later in the A.M., I decided it just didn't have that terrific appeal which pecan pie can create verbally let alone visually; it just was NOT party quality. So-o-o, decided to do a re-run (afterall, the hostess'd said my dessert was only the second offered and I didn't want her to run short.) You'll only have to read a wee bit more to learn that Lee's Law applied again.

The pecan repeat, due to lack of evaporated milk, had to be cancelled and sour cream raisin pie took its place (this one chosen since all the ingredients were on hand and it just happened to be one of the hostess' favorites.) All this took place as I anticipated BG's call from the golf course saying he'd finished his match and I could join him (in other words, a rush job.)

I know what you're thinking right about now, too, and you're gonna be fooled! The filling turned out beautifully and I lucked out on having a ready-made graham cracker crust on hand. The irony of the whole bit is — the hostess had a literal SMORGASBORD of desserts from which to choose; the too-brown, curdled pecan pie "went" and the sour cream raisin ended up going home with several takers who'd not had the opportunity (room on their plate) to try it.

Now I'd not intended this intro to "potpourri" to be on only one subject; I WAS going to include all the other dumb things that've happened of late. But, I'm already on page 3 (triple-spaced) and that's plenty long for a beginning. Maybe we can get back to ol' Murph-Lee again some day.

(P.S. There IS a lesson to be learned here, however. I WAS going to aim it at new brides and novice cooks and bakers but since yours truly is hardly either, it's meant for one and all. DO take time to read the entire recipe or as BG has tried to pound into my head — if all else fails, read directions! ALL THAT DESSERT, oh pain!)

"FIRST" IN THE LAND

- The first practical steam locomotive to operate in the U.S. was the DeWitt Clinton which commenced with a run from Albany to Schenectady on July 31, 1832.

- Iowa was the first state to tax cigarettes, beginning on April 11, 1921. Prior to this, it was illegal to sell cigarettes in Iowa.

- America's first sky writing appeared over New York City in 1922; its message, "Hello, USA."

- The first time baseball fans were charged admission to a game was when 1,500 spectators paid 50 cents each to see Brooklyn play New York on July 20, 1859.

FRESH-HERBS ADD ZEST

When cooking with your homegrown fresh herbs, use two to three times as much as you would with dried herbs and make the most of them! Basil, known as the "tomato herb" because it tastes so good in tomato dishes, is the "in" herb right now and can be used in all types of Italian recipes. It also goes well with seafood, fish, lamb, cheese, eggs, peas, potatoes and tossed green salad.

Parsley is used to season a wide range of foods: meat, poultry, fish, cheese dishes, most vegetables, eggs and soups. Chervil tastes good with egg and cheese dishes, chicken, peas, cream soups and tossed salads, and is used frequently to season butter sauces, especially those for fish. For variety, add chervil to cottage cheese, omelets and scrambled eggs.

Chives add flavor to omelets, salads, soups and sauces; in butter, they give a light pungency to fish without overpowering its flavor. Finely chopped chives can be mixed with cottage cheese and cream cheese, and in sour cream, they make a special topping and dip.

Sage is used most often to season meats and dressings, although it also adds an exciting taste to cheese spreads, creamed soups and dips and a wide variety of vegetables, including Brussels sprouts, carrots, lima beans, onions and peas.

Rosemary, traditionally associated with meat dishes, especially lamb, can be used successfully in cheese sauces, cream sauces for seafood, poultry stuffing, potatoes and cauliflower.

An excellent flavor blend for seasoning many foods is created by mixing the appropriate herb with butter. Simply melt or whip the butter and herb together. Begin with ¼ teaspoon herb for every ¼ cup of ½ stick butter. Add more seasoning as desired.

KITCHEN AIDS

- Potholders will stay cleaner longer if given a heavy treatment of spray starch before using.

- To open a coconut, tap around its middle with a hammer and when you reach the starting point, give it an extra hard tap.

- Aluminum pots may darken from spinach or potatoes or other alkaline foods. Brighten by boiling two teaspoons of cream of tartar to one quart of water.

- You can easily keep your toaster bright and shining by cleaning it with club soda.

- A potato peeler can be used to cut cheese into strips for salads and other garnishing.

- Aluminum foil under the napkin in your roll basket will keep the rolls hotter longer.

- After newly-washed windows have dried, rub with a clean black-board eraser for a really fine shine.

- Clear plastic wrap is less likely to stick to itself if you keep it in the refrigerator.

THE BOTTOM LINE: Too many years with a nagging wife have made many an old man feel like a new woman.

It's a Date

Bowers, Juchartz repeat vows at Waltz Church

St. John's Lutheran Church in Waltz was reserved for the recent ceremony which united Debra Ann Juchartz and Frederick Anthony Bowers in holy matrimony.

The Rev. H. John Schaible and lay minister Tom Schroeder presided at the seven o'clock candle-light rite before some 200 assembled guests.

Music for the double ring wedding was provided by St. John's Handbell Choir, Pam Schroeder who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and Betty Kloha who was organist.

The daughter of Donald and Doris Juchartz of Bemis Road, Belleville, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. For her wedding day she chose to wear the 25-year-old gown belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Conrad Juchartz. Styled with a little fitted bodice which featured long fitted lace sleeves and a high lace collar above an illusion neckline, the dress was cut with a full hooped skirt of tulle over satin.

Completing her bridal finery was a halo of baby's breath, yellow and white daisies and yellow rosebuds and a bouquet of cascading yellow and white daisies and yellow rosebuds, both of which were arranged by the bride's mother.

Pat Juchartz traveled from Cedar Rapids, Ia. to be her sister's honor attendant. Bridesmaids included Connie Southward of Belleville; Linda Otter of Waltz and Cindy Leland of Valparaiso, Ind.

Identically gowned, the quartet's ensembles featured fitted blouses of white dotted Swiss with Victorian necklines and full sleeves worn over pale yellow camisoles attached to matching toe-touching flared skirts.

Each carried a natural basket filled with baby's breath and yellow and white daisies and completed her outfit with a cameo necklace, a gift from the bride.

The bridegroom, a New Boston resident, and the son of Archie Bowers of Wyandotte and Stella Hansen of Colorado, asked Tom Schroeder of Waltz to be best man. Grooms-men were Jon Juchartz of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and Dave Juchartz of Belleville, both brothers of the bride; and Alan Otter of Waltz.

At the dinner reception which followed in the church hall, guests were greeted by the bride's mother in a pale green formal chiffon gown to which she pinned her corsage of roses, daisies and baby's breath.

Now residing at 25495 Clark Rd., New Boston, the newlyweds spent two weeks touring Toronto, Boston, Washington, D.C. and Virginia Beach.

The new Mrs. Bowers, a 1972 graduate of Belleville High School, holds a teaching degree from Michigan State University and prior to cut-backs in the Van Buren Schools, taught biology in the system for three years.

Her husband, a 1959 Ecorse High School graduate, attended Eastern Michigan and Oakland Universities and is now with Standard Machine Equipment in Wyandotte.

A catered buffet dinner at the home of the bride's parents followed the wedding rehearsal.

New on the scene

Michael Lee McNeil

It's a boy! is the news being learned these late summer days by friends and relatives of Brian and Linda McNeil of 9650 Hazel St., Taylor. The birth of their first child, Michael Lee, occurred at 1:02 p.m. July 29 at Riverside Osteopathic Hospital in Trenton.

The 7 lb. - 14 oz. newcomer, who measured 21 inches, is the grandson of Larry and Wanda Lindenmuth and Newell and Vi McNeil, all of Romulus.

Great-grandparent honors go to John and Susan Schaefer of Romulus and Lucille Barber of Dundee.

Gretchen Veronica Gowen

The birth of their second daughter, Gretchen Veronica, is announced by Vern and Connie Gowen of 11089 Borgman, Belleville.

Making her debut July 14 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, the 7lb. - 5 1/2 oz. baby is the future playmate of Gwendelyn Gowen and the new granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Gowen of Belleville and Ray and Ruth Eggers, formerly of Belleville.

Craig Stuart Smith

"Craig Stuart" is the title given the new son born July 27 to Earl and Brenda Smith of Granger, Ind. Their first child, he bowed in at 12:17 a.m. at Memorial Hospital in South Bend, Ind. and weighed 7 lbs. - 11 ozs.

His proud grandparents include Mr. and Mrs. John Sparkman of Romulus and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Greene of St. Clair Shores.

The new mother is the former Brenda Sparkman.

Joy Arthur leaving local church for Methodist post in Detroit

The Rev. Joy E. Arthur, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville, will be leaving his congregation at the end of August to assume the post of Superintendent of the Detroit East District.

Announcement of his appointment, which is effective Sept. 1, comes from Bishop Edsel A. Ammons. He succeeds Dr. Donald A. Scavella Sr. who becomes executive secretary of the Detroit United Methodist Union at that time.

A graduate of Midland High School, Arthur was active in 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America, receiving state and American Farmer Awards while in school. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Taylor University in 1954 and his master of divinity degree from Christian Theological Seminary in Indianapolis, Ind. in 1958.

Prior to his service in the United Methodist Church, he was a farmer and an industrial corporation employee. He served Methodist churches in Indiana between 1953 and 1964, came to the Detroit Conference to serve as minister of education at Jefferson Avenue, Saginaw and in 1969 became pastor at Highland Park First. He has been affiliated with the Belleville Church for nine years.

In 1978 he led a delegation of persons from both annual conferences to India for a month-long study tour and in 1980, with his family, spent six weeks as an exchange pastor under the World Methodist Council in Plymouth, England. In January 1982, he was one of 13 members of the Ann Arbor District to travel to Haiti and participate in a number of building projects on behalf of the people in the mountain area of Petit Goave.

Arthur has served on several district and conference committees including the Town and Country Committee and the Board of Ministry and is currently president of the Ann Arbor District Board of Missions and Church Extension.

His wife, Dorothy, is a reading-mathematics consultant with the Van Buren Public Schools. Their daughter, Spring, is a US-2 assigned to Moore House in Biloxi, Miss., and their son, Stephen, is a student in the building trades. The Arthurs will be honored at a farewell dinner given by the church congregation Aug. 29 in the Fellowship Hall.

The Rev. George Spencer of Grayling will be his replacement.

Wilkinses to mark golden year

MR. AND MRS. JAMES WILKINS

A reception honoring the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilkins of 6104 Western St., Belleville, is planned for Aug. 21 from 2 to 5 p.m. at Faith United Methodist Church in Denton.

Karen R. Wilkins of Mt. Clemens will host the afternoon party honoring her parents who married Aug. 20, 1932 in Garden City. Mrs. Wilkins is the former Ruth E. Randall of Reed City.

The Wilkinses, who have resided at their present address for 42 years, are also parents of a son Keith R. Wilkins who is deceased, and grandparents of Shelly Wilkins Harden of Sykesville, Md.

Mr. Wilkins retired in 1968 from Ford Motor Company and his wife a year earlier from Van Buren Public Schools where she was a teacher. Both were formerly active in scouting and 4-H work.

Among the many friends and relatives expected to attend are Mr. and Mrs. Irving Dixon of Howell who were attendants at the wedding 50 years ago.

Cynthia Enzenauer entertained at a surprise birthday party Aug. 2 honoring her sister, Julie Ann Phelps of Bella Vista, on her 37th birthday. Her children, Carl and Carla; nieces and nephews, Kathy, David and Karen Enzenauer, Judy and Jim Harrington and Tresa and Glenn Gonczy and Jim Morris attended. They learned that PFC John Enzenauer has returned to his base at Frankfurt, Germany after a visit with friends, Joey and Sue Justin in Mannheim, Germany.

Courtney and David Sikes returned home recently after spending two weeks with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Parker at Glennie.

Short subjects for summer

SHORTCUT TO A PEACH TORTE

If you're looking for ways to ease food preparation, especially on warm days, look to fresh peaches in local markets and take advantage of convenience foods.

Frozen pound cake, for example, is the ideal base for Fresh Peach Torte. Be sure to have a 4-oz. container of Cool Whip non-dairy whipped topping, thawed, to complete the 6 delicious servings. Have ready 2 cups sliced sweetened fresh peaches. Thaw a 10 3/4-oz. frozen pound cake and cut into 12 slices. Place 6 of the slices on a large serving plate or 6 individual dessert plates. Arrange half the peaches on cake slices; spread with half the whipped topping. Repeat layers, ending with a dollop of whipped topping. Second servings, anyone?

PEANUT BUTTER POPS

To make 6 or 8 pops, blend 1 cup creamy peanut butter, 1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese and 1/2 cup milk. Fold in 1 container (4 oz.) Cool Whip non-dairy whipped topping, thawed, blending well. Spoon into 3- or 4-ounce paper cups. Insert a wooden stick in center of each for a handle.

Freeze until firm, about 3 hours. Remove paper cups before serving. Make extras and have a second batch waiting in the freezer.

Van Buren-township in transition

Van Buren Township voters made a crucial decision in their lives — they decided last week to oust from office five elected officials. They made that decision. They can build together on that decision or they can let that decision drive a wedge deeper into the township and destroy whatever there is left.

Presently, there is no township board quorum, therefore as James Killeen, Wayne County Clerk, pointed out, the township's business will come to a standstill until the five vacancies are filled. As far as Killeen's office can research the question, the appointments to fill the positions will belong to Governor William Milliken.

Gov. Milliken, who chose not to run for re-election, is a Republican, and if he wishes, could load the township board with members of his own party. We know that he has the good sense not to add fuel to an already inflamed situation.

It is literally a time for all of those who wish for a better Van Buren to work together and make the transition of government as quickly and as easily as possible. The stormy past should remain there in the past.

If Van Buren ever needed leaders, it is today. And we urge those who have the qualities to lead to step forward and help mend the schism. The bridge over the turmoil and into a better tomorrow can be built today. The recall group which worked so hard to reach its goal should work doubly hard to mend the fences.

We're reminded of the outraged grandmother who approached Abe Lincoln after the Confederacy had crumbled, and urged him to "punish our enemies." Lincoln replied: "Yes, I will. We'll make them our friends."

To the rabble rousers of the world

Most children of history have memorized the golden patriotic statement that "I may not agree with what you have to say, but I will defend with my life your right to say it."

We have, as witnessed by our usually long list of Letters to the Editor, provided a forum for our readers to express their thoughts and ideas. However, sometimes, like a light in a foggy sea, we wonder if a writer deserves that right.

There is in today's letter's column a certain letter critical of our editorial staff. The writer has the right to his opinion. But he should also afford us that opportunity. We believe that if a voter is going to be critical of a politician — and he certainly has that right — he may vent his frustration on that politician by not casting a vote for him; organizing a campaign to oust him from office; or, better still, running for office.

Just because a man or woman is an elected official, they are not fair game. There is a class of people, who experience has helped us recognize, that will never have anything constructive to say about anyone. They believe that they are articulate spokespersons for their community. Their propaganda, upon closer examination, has little of substance to offer.

We believe he has the right, even if it is not a qualified opinion, to express that opinion.

However, there are laws that separate what is and what is not legally permissible for publication.

Our legal department helps us make that determination.

We know that most letterwriters don't have an attorney handy. We also know that most rabble-rousers wouldn't care what an attorney had to say. Rabble-rousing provides a cauldron for these people to stir up emotions in one turn and become the center of attention.

To these we say we know you're out there. We know you exist. And we will try to peacefully coexist.

However, we would prefer that you would vent your frustrations elsewhere for a while and give our staff a breather. Please?

The 9.8 percent unemployment rate posted in July is one more indication that the record $99 billion tax increase now under consideration is bad economic policy. Whether you are a conservative or a liberal, a supply-sider or a Keynesian, you were taught that you don't raise taxes in recession.

To do so would further depress economic activity, put more tax-paying workers and businesses out of commission and thus, leave Uncle Sam with even bigger budget deficits.

Nonetheless, a wide range of "wise men" in political, academic and media circles insist that the way to rescue our economy is to bail out of supply-side economics with the parachute of a record tax hike.

They'd better prepare for a crash landing!

Come to think of it, the recent track record of "conventional wisdom" espoused by many of these sages does not exactly inspire confidence in their current prognostications. To cite just a few examples:

The conventional wisdom insisted that sweeping tax reductions on the order of the Kemp-Roth proposal would send the rate of inflation back up to 20 percent and perhaps even higher. Debating candidate Ronald Reagan on this subject in 1980, President Jimmy Carter said, "The Reagan-Kemp-Roth proposal is the most highly inflationary proposal that has been presented to the American public."

Yet, since last year's tax package was passed, not only has the double-digit spiral been broken, but inflation so far this year is running at an annual pace of just 5.1 percent.

The conventional wisdom also claimed that rather than save and invest, Americans would fritter away their tax cuts on foolish pleasures. Yet, Individual Retirement Accounts — about as long-term as savings commitment as one can make — have exploded since the new law took effect. And despite the recession, businesses are increasing their spending for new research and development this year by 17 percent over last year.

The conventional wisdom insisted that energy prices would skyrocket as a result of President Reagan's decision on Jan. 28, 1981 to totally decontrol crude oil prices. Sen. Donald Reagle (D-Mich.) took to the Senate floor the next day to declare that "every citizen and every family will find their living standard reduced by this decision, and it will hurt those people most who must drive to work."

Sen. Edward Kennedy chimed in, claiming that "because of decontrol, the inflation we will suffer will be double-digit rather than single-digit next year."

Don't look now Senators, but prices for petroleum products are lower today than they were on the day of the dreaded decontrol.

The conventional wisdom also told us that there was no way interest rates could drop in the face of rising deficits. The widely quoted Wall Street economist Henry Kaufman declared last October that "I continue to believe that we have not yet seen the high in interest rates, either short term or long term."

Without excusing the deficit, the fact is the prime rate has dropped 30 percent over the last 19 months, during which time the federal government has been running up record deficits.

The purpose of pointing out these inaccurate predictions by leading opinion-makers is not to say "I told you so," but to demonstrate that those who claim that 1) supply-side economics has failed and 2) our only recourse is to return to the policies of tax and spend, have been wrong, woefully wrong in the past. And they are wrong this time.

Double trouble

guest editorial

The PLO, who are they?

In your recent editorial "BEIRUT-IT CONCERNS EACH AND EVERY ONE OF US," you failed to mention the fact that Prime Minister Menachem Begin was a terrorist himself. He led the 1948 Dir Yasin massacre, and bombed the King David Hotel in Jerusalem which resulted in the death of a British Diplomat.

Israel is our ally, but they are sabotaging our relationship with moderate Arab regimes, and harassing U.S. marine copters in the Mediterranean.

Because of the bombing in Beirut, thousands and thousands of innocent people have died. The destruction of homes, apartment buildings and hotels has left hundreds of thousands of people homeless.

Now comes the question, who are the P.L.O.? In this country, the P.L.O. are regarded as terrorists and nothing else. This is a false statement.

In 1948, the British, because of the terrible destruction of Jewish lives under maniac rule of Adolf Hitler, and because of increasing Zionist terrorism, signed the Balfour Declaration.

The Balfour Declaration gave the Jewish people the right to a Jewish state within the borders of Palestine. What everyone seemed to be forgetting was that there were Palestinians living in Palestine!

The Palestinians held lawful deed to their lands and had lived there and raised their families there for centuries. It seemed unbelievable to them that a foreign country, so far from their own, could legally terminate the existence of their country. With the advent of Jewish refugees from European countries coming to the newly formed state of Israel, the Palestinians, their land and legal rights taken from them, soon became the refugees of the Arab world.

By the mid-1960's, the Palestinians, unwanted in most Arab countries, and the majority of them still living in squalid and depressing refugee camps, (mostly in Jordan, Syria, Lebanon, and the West Bank under military occupation) decided to consolidate their various resistance movements (ranging from conservative, moderate and leftist ideology) into one organization. This was the beginning of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

The P.L.O., seeing that no other country in the Arab world, was willing to see that the Palestinian people were treated justly and humanely, formed governments within governments, to insure the safety and dignity of their people. They formed their own courts, hospitals and schools.

Because of a massive movement to wipe out illiteracy within the camps, the Palestinians have risen to become the most educated and progressive people in the Arab world. From their ranks have come educators, (like Prof. Edward Said, who teaches at Columbia University and has written many books on the problems facing the modern middle east and the Palestinians themselves) to economist, technicians, writers, doctors, lawyers, artists and poets.

Ironically, because of their refugee status, and their high regard for education, they have become known as "the Jews of the Arab world."

The Palestinians, because of repression under the regimes of Israeli and Arab governments alike, and because of unfulfilled promises and empty slogans, repeated by various Arab politicians, who have to regard the P.L.O. as their sole representative. Not only do the Palestinians regard them as such, but so do 121 other countries.

It is time for all citizens of the United States to try and understand the problems and aspirations of the Palestinian people.

Ask yourself if you would quietly tolerate these indignities?

As a citizen of the United States, a country which strongly believes in freedom and dignity for all people, I know that the fate of the Palestinian people, like our own revolutionaries in 1776, lies in the promise and the right of self determination.

Prison life

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

From personal experience, the man knew what he was talking about.

"We give them a light slap across the wrists and tell them not to do it again," the man said, "and they go right out — at least 80 percent of them — and do it again."

"Like rotten potatoes, our criminal and penal system smells."

A former U.S. Army officer, the man from Indiana had taken a job with a state prison. He was describing life in prison and why prisoners return to the cell block after they are awarded their freedom.

"Take a kid growing up in an inner city who has grown up on the streets, looking for food, shelter and clothing. He's going to hustle to survive. He has to. And when he finally gets caught and given a couple of years behind bars he finds out that now he gets his food free, his clothing free, medical care he never had before and, movies and recreation.

"Except for a few restrictions, he has never had it better. Why should he want to leave. And this costs the taxpayers' about $18,000 per year per prisoner plus around $12,000 per year for guards."

But they say it's a jungle inside the walls.

"Sure it is — and they learn to survive and some even flourish. And it's also a jungle outside the walls. They learn to become con artists in and out of prisons."

But don't they learn trades. They manufacture items to help support their upkeep.

"Hey, if the taxpayers ever knew how much waste there is inside, they would really get mad. You know some of those guys are really brilliant. If they would only use their ability for useful instead of criminal purposes, they'd be all right."

"They're very clever. They know how to devise hundreds of ways to smuggle dope in-and-out of the prison. They found greenbacks — which aren't permissible in jails — cleverly rolled in camera film. This one guy devised a way in which he would swallow capsules of drugs and later manage to retain it and sell it."

"Then there are the clever writers who will seek pen pals, work on their sympathy then ask for items and money. This one guy told me he had more than 20 women writing and sending him things from across the U.S."

I told him there were such letters mailed to this and other newspapers from inmates who appeared to be using the newspapers in similar matters. We now have refused to publish those letters.

"I know I come off pessimistic about the system," the man said. "But I'm there almost every day. And, no, I don't believe capital punishment will solve anything. And I wish I had some solutions to solve the problems, because you shouldn't be knocking things down unless you have something better to offer."

"But hell they all know what's going on inside — the strange thing is that no one has been able to come up with a better system, especially in this country."

Check babysitters' qualifications

EDITOR—I am amazed that so many parents continue to allow babysitters who they barely know take care of their most important possession, their children. News articles telling of babysitters abusing children are common. Also many accidents and injuries have happened to children in babysitters' care. I have also seen babysitters using bad language in front of children and generally setting a bad example for them. Parents should check out babysitters if they are forced to use one they don't know. They should be licensed with the State of Michigan Day Care Homes and even then the babysitter program and home should be inspected by the parents. Child care centers are usually a better risk but teacher-student ratios and programs should also be checked there.

Tiger Wilcox earns praise

EDITOR—The Western Wayne County Chapter of Children's Leukemia Foundation would like to publicly thank a Michigan celebrity and a business person who resides in Canton. We refer to Milt Wilcox of the Detroit Tigers.

When Milt was at the Canton Library, literally hundreds of kids wanted attention handshakes and autographs. At this time he took the few extra minutes to autograph a baseball and T-shirt for Scott Seppala, a 15-year-old leukemia victim from this area, who was in Seattle having a Bone Marrow Transplant at the time. (Scott is now home and doing well.) Needless to say Scott also enjoyed the chance to meet Milt and Sparky Anderson when he and his dad attended a Mariner game in Washington after his discharge from the hospital. Thanks again, our Chapter and of course, Milt and Scott are all WINNERS

Mayor Emerson says 'Thank you'

EDITOR—I would like to take this opportunity to thank the many people who worked so diligently during our Special Election for the new City Charter. It was adopted only through your efforts and knowledge that, indeed, this will be a better Belleville.

The investment involved in re-writing the Charter has been preserved and we now have the opportunity and responsibility to see that it has not been wasted. Again, let me say thank you for your concern for our community and trust in your elected officials.

JUSTIN EMERSON
Mayor Belleville

Westlander wants some answers

EDITOR—What's Going on In Westland? Several months ago on April 19, 1982 Justine Barns asked the city attorney to see about suing the people who were fighting the paving. Was this a scare tactic? I'm not sure, but after the roads were graded and chlorided in May, the council cut the service from 3 to 2 times a year, was this a pressure maneuver, or were they trying to get the budget in balance?

If they were trying to get the budget in balance, then why do certain departments including the city clerk, get $3,600.00 for transportation? With the city cars we have, are they ashamed to be seen driving one during working hours and giving back the money to the city? You see, the council had to vote on giving that money to them.

What about department heads getting six months in severance pay? The council had to vote on it before it became law. Were they in a good mood and didn't know what effect it would have on the city? Or, was it done to discourage the firing of their friends if their man lost the office of mayor? If the latter was the case, then maybe that's why they tried to say, if you fire a department head you will have to leave it empty for six months, or until we come up with the money.

You see, it looks to me as if the council were trying to make Mayor Pickering look bad to the people, without showing their ineptness. (1) $3,600.00 for transportation so departments won't have to use city cars. (2) Six months severance pay so as, hopefully, to make it harder to remove one of their friends at our expense. And let's not forget, Mrs. Barns, who added to her mistakes on July 6, 1982 by saying at a council meeting, that the P.C.H.A. had to have $22,000,000.00 on hand for every thirty days for debt bond insurance. You were wrong again, it's $10,000,000.00, by law, you have to have. I guess it was just a mistake, after all, how many years has she been there?

So friends, before you blow-up at someone, come to the council meetings in Westland and see who the true boob really is. I do, even though it makes me sick!!

Westland

EDITOR—On July 16 I brought a letter in, asking about Justine Barns' record while on the council.

I also felt that it would only be fair to have Mrs. Barns come in and respond to the letter and if anything was wrong or incorrect, she could keep the letter out or put a letter in the paper behind it.

The same day she came to Mr. Mooradian's office from 2:45 till 3:30 p.m.

I hear papers say freedom of the press and the public's right to know, it did not appear in the next issue of the paper, even though it was about her, so called proven record, a bad one to say the least.

That hurt me very much but last week when Mr. Mooradian came out and supported Justine Barns, even though he saw the letter, and had Mrs. Barns in his office for 45 min. and she does not dispute the letter, well!! "Freedom of the press," "The public's right to know," but "it could hurt a person I am going to support, then I will suppress it from the people".

Well, the election is over now Mr. Bar... Mooradian so maybe you and your first lady will let the letter see the light of day, and maybe, just maybe, your rubber legs are stronger now so you could tell me and everyone else why you kept the letter out, and supported Mrs. Barns, I need a good laugh!

Sumpter couple adds to dream

Pursell, staff are applauded

EDITOR—We live in a time when many people are critical of government and politicians. I believe criticism is a valid form of communication but also feel that we should give credit to our officials when it is due.

I would like to publicly thank United States Representative Carl Pursell of the Second Congressional District and his staff for the excellent work they did recently in assisting Madonna College in the preparation of a proposal submitted to the U.S. Department of Education. Approval of the competitive proposal led to the awarding of a three-year grant for the Madonna College Interpreting Program, which will be used to train 75 skilled manual and oral interpreters for deaf persons.

At the completion of the project, the interpreters assisted by the grant will be available for employment in public and private agencies servicing the health, education, welfare, rehabilitation, employment and related needs of deaf people in Michigan and Ohio.

In addition to expanding the Madonna College baccalaureate program in interpreting, part of the first year's grant of $78,208 will be used to provide workshops and training sessions to strengthen and expand the skills of in-service interpreters who work in legal, medical, mental health and other specialized settings.

Rep. Pursell took the time to learn about our interpreting program, then assisted our staff in gathering the material necessary to describe the need for a regional center at Madonna College. It is heartening to see a public official and his staff give time to a worthwhile project and help to make it work.

Madonna has one of the few baccalaureate-level interpreting programs in the nation. In addition to 100 students studying sign language, interpreting and communication, it has 50 hearing impaired or deaf students and three deaf instructors. It is an important program that will expand to meet the needs of the deaf community. Thanks to Rep. Pursell and the grant, we will be able to do that.

Welty thanks supporters

EDITOR—I would like to thank the many residents of Van Buren Township who supported me during the recent recall fiasco.

My sincere thanks go to the 1140 registered voters who voted NO to my recall. They wanted me to continue as an elected official.

My years as a member of the Van Buren Township Board were a rewarding period of my life.

I can honestly say that the many decisions I made while sitting on the Board were, in my opinion, for the betterment of Van Buren Township.

Again, thank you for your support and I only hope that the members of the new Board, (who will be elected in November), will continue to keep the interests of Van Buren residents in mind when they have to make decisions.

W-W school recall backers respond to critic

This letter is in response to Darlene McLaughlin's Guest Editorial "Why Are Wayne-Westland School Board Members Targets of Recall?"

Ms. McLaughlin, they are being recalled because of their vote on a contract they approved October 26, 1981, when the contract already in effect would have carried through to September 6, 1982. This contract grants teachers in the Wayne-Westland School District a 7-9 raise per year for the next two years.

Are you not aware of the economic disaster being faced by the State of Michigan and much of the rest of our country? Face reality. There are thousands upon thousands of people unemployed. There are different groups of people who have taken pay concessions (not deferments). In some districts, like our neighboring district of Romulus, teachers have agreed to pay freezes.

I'm not against teachers but I am against the vote on this contract.

In your article, Ms. McLaughlin, you said the teachers' contract was nullified and the teachers have accepted a wage freeze. I've heard the teachers' union has agreed to forego a pay increase until October 22, 1982.

That's approximately one and one-half months. If this district could afford to give the teachers a 7-9 raise last October, why are the other unions being asked for concessions now? Would it be to pay for this teacher contract? Also, according to Webster's Dictionary, the word nullify means "to annul or render void, make ineffective". This contract is still in effect.

You stated four reasons you feel the recall is unwise. The first three of your reasons are all "ifs"—if this and if that. I prefer to deal with facts. You stated you don't want homes in the district devalued as in Taylor. To that I say try and sell your home at the assessed value. More than likely you won't be able to find a buyer. Home owners faced this problem before the recall started.

Your fourth reason, saying this election will cost taxpayers about $30,000, is somewhat exaggerated but sometimes you have to pay something to save something. I believe if such contracts keep being approved you and I won't have to be concerned about our school district. It will self-destruct. If this contract had not been voted through, would the district be asking for concessions even before the new contract begins, at a time we should normally still be at the bargaining table?

I care very much about this school system. I have children in school, one of whom is just starting. I'd like to see my youngest have a school district from which to graduate. This should answer your question on why the recall is going on and I urge everyone to vote YES on September 14, 1982, to recall M. Arbour, D. Rusneck, K. Marshall and M. Batterson. I feel a YES is a vote to keep our schools a system we can afford.

reflections

Healing — a true miracle

In the past year I have had a great deal of time to think about healing.

What is healing?

William A. Nolan, M.D. became so fascinated with the healing process that he began investigating healers, and then he wrote a book, "Healing: A Doctor in Search of a Miracle."

Dr. Nolan says that when he began his investigation he had really hoped to find some evidence that someone, somewhere, had supernatural powers that he or she could employ to cure those patients that doctors, with all their knowledge, and training, must still label "incurable."

He says he was unable to find any such miracle worker.

Dr. Nolan agrees that "faith healers" have been able to relieve symptoms and cure some functional diseases by suggestion and in some cases hypnosis. They tell their patients to think positively and if the patient is able to achieve the positive thinking then in some cases he seems to have been healed.

But Dr. Nolan does not believe that serious organic disease can be healed.

And yet, there are people who have bathed at the Lourdes, who have been touched by the hand of Kathryn Kuhlman, who have had spontaneous remissions of cancer, and can prove it.

So what happens? And can healing come to everyone?

Obviously something did happen in the people who were healed at Lourdes, who were healed by the touch of the hand of Kuhlman, who had spontaneous remissions of cancer after prayer.

Call it God, or call it the amazingly mysterious working of our own minds, it is all one and the same thing. God IS, so therefore, we dwell in God. And perhaps once we learn the "tuning-in" process we can all be healed of whatever afflicts us.

Perhaps all it takes is belief. Whatever, Marie Bailey is happy she never met Dr. Nolan, for if she had and he had been able to convince her that healing can't work on organic ailments she would be dead today. But she's alive and working and glorying in the beauty of each day.

Fifteen years ago she was lying near death's door with terminal cancer. The pain was intolerable and she was hazy from the pain and the drugs she was being given.

"I don't think I was dreaming," she said. "But even if I were, I didn't care, for I am well today because of what happened."

"I was lying in my bed, looking out of the window. My eyes seemed blurry from the pain and I could barely see the outline of the trees. But I could see the sunlight."

"Oh God," I said to myself. "I don't want to die. I have so much to do before I go. But if I must live with this pain, then please hurry and take me."

JOYCE HAGELTHORN

"That is what I was thinking, kind of haphazardly, you know, but the gist of it is the way I just described. Suddenly someone was by my bed. She was beautiful, and I felt a warmth radiating from her. She leaned over me and placed her hands on my pain-wracked body. And then she smiled, and told me I was well. In an instant she was gone. Just gone!"

"The pain was gone, too, and I lay there realizing that for the first time in months I was free from pain."

"The next day I was hungry, and five days later I was walking around the house, feeling healthy and strong."

"That was fifteen years ago, and my doctor said I had a spontaneous remission. I know I was visited by someone, and was healed."

Freedom

An awareness of one's competence
In consideration of self-worth;
The ability to recognize
The determining factor of truth
With respect to reason.
Freedom is not exclusive
Nor an end in itself,
But is persuaded by good conduct.
Freedom is the slave of justice and integrity;
An incentive for the pursuit of wisdom
And happiness in life's challenge;
A liberty to choose any goal
With the flexibility to achieve it.
Freedom is earned by the effort that it requires,
Not without pain or loss,
But a relentless vigilance to retain it.
Freedom's meaning is deceiving
For it tends to please our wants,
Which are carelessly chosen at times,
Allowing without restriction
Indiscriminate gratification
Irrespective of proper conduct
Conducive to civil behavior;
A negative conduct with strong passive influence
Filtering into the basic fibers of culture,
The arts, education,
And the moral welfare of society.
Freedom without responsibility
Is freedom not for individuality
Nor the rights of man which are its goals,
But rather a freedom for the forces of tyranny
And oppression.

Marco's Parlor

Old-fashioned values are recreated in unique setting

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

Remember the good old days? Mom and dad still reminisce about the trips to the corner store in quest of some goodies. The most difficult decision was choosing what to buy — hard candies in every flavor imaginable, licorice, ice cream, cakes or pies. And everything priced to meet the needs of even the smallest pocketbook.

Only in his mid-20's, Marco Scappaticci is too young to remember those days. But not too young to know how important the old fashioned corner store was in the lives of adults and kids alike.

Marco and his wife, Helena, have recreated the old fashioned store concept at Marco's Ice Cream & Sandwich Parlor, located at Garden City's Warren Venoy Plaza (32669 Warren).

Visitors can enjoy a sweet tooth feast here, picking from among 35 natural flavors of ice cream, Truan's chocolates, imported hard candies, freshly made popcorn, sandwiches featuring Kowalski meats and various other delicacies.

They can dine at brass tables and chairs with colorful candy stirped seats or they can take their newly found goodies home. For entertainment, a number of video games — a concession to the 1980's — provide the challenge.

"We stress the old fashioned goodness and variety, not fast food," explained Marco, who with his father actually built the parlor from the ground up, one of their construction business endeavors.

"I don't like the fast food business with their artificial secret sauces," he admitted. "We want to give people down to earth good food. As an independent we can buy what we want and where we want."

And that includes six purely natural ice cream flavors from the Frusen Gladje line and another 29 naturally flavored selections with 14 toppings available. One dip (55 cents) or two (95 cents), "it's real ice cream," as Marco is quick to point out.

In addition to the traditional toppings, Marco's offers pina colada, blueberry, golden honey and raspberry. Double dip sundaes range from $1.30 to $1.40.

"This is a great place to experiment," laughed Helena. "People are surprised when we tell them that they can have any flavors of ice cream they want in their banana split. No matter what they order, we give them a choice of how they want it done."

"People sometimes can't believe they are being given so many choices."

Among the "Super Duper Sundaes" are Henry's Tin Lizzy, Brownie Deluxe, Deluxe Banana Split, Banana Boat, Garden City Gourmet Delight and the Love Boat for Two, a choice of five dips, topped with hot fudge, crushed nuts, whipped cream and cherries for $2.95.

As for the sandwiches, the eight-inch submarines include corned beef ($1.75), turkey ($1.75), reuben ($2.10), salami ($1.75) and tuna salad ($1.75) to name a few. A roast beef sandwich on a sesame seed bun is priced at 89 cents and comes with a choice of sauces.

For the big appetite there's the Big Contender combination ($3) of a large pop and a super sub with choice of three kinds of meat, two cheeses, lettuce, tomato, plus a combination of numerous garnishes.

Daily specials feature a meat ball sandwich, homemade chili and soup, pizza, pies and the malted waffle, a seven-inch wide by one-inch thick waffle topped with a butter syrup that is one of Marco's personal favorites.

Marco's Ice Cream & Sandwich Parlor is open from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday. Assisting Helena Scappaticci in the day-to-day operations are Manager Jane Trombley and Assistant Manager Linda Dolan.

Your sweet tooth will be easily satisfied at Marco's Ice Cream & Sandwich Parlor in the Warren Venoy Plaza (32669 Warren). Ice cream, candies, sandwiches and even gifts can be purchased at

Duran who? It's Duran Duran

There's certainly been no drastic change, but a look at today's music charts shows quite a few groups in lofty positions that would have seemed absurd a year ago.

The Human League, Soft Cell, and A Flock Of Seagulls have all made their mark, the first two even breaking into America's top ten. And that's an ambitious members of England's Duran Duran feel is within their grasp.

"The charts are opening up over here," keyboardist Nick

Rhodes told me, "and that's the break we need." Not only has radio been breaking in the new bands, but there's also a lot of success coming out of the clubs that play new music, as well as cable's Music Television (MTV).

I mentioned to Nick (a real affable guy) that I had never really had a chance to listen to the band, before, but a video for a song off of "Rio," their latest LP, caught first my eyes, then my ears. The song is "Hungry Like The Wolf," and it's since become my favorite tune of the month, for whatever that's worth.

"If you thing that's good, wait 'till you see the other two we did. I think they're even better," said Nick. "They were all done in Sri Lanka — a jungle population which is in the Indian Ocean — buy a guy by the name of Russell Mulcahy, who's currently making the best videos around. (His video for "Bette Davis Eyes" won an award)."

"Does the band," I wondered,

"write songs with video in mind?"

"Yea," he enthused, "very much so. As a band, we think in pictures a lot, Simon's (Le Bon) lyrics are very visual."

Indeed they are, because the video for "Hungry Like The Wolf" is just incredible. Sort of like last year's "Tarzan" movie, except you're spared Bo Derrick's inanity.

"Rio" is the band's second album to date, and it's an im-

Special to Playtime

When the sun goes down, the boats come out and the lights go on all around the lake. Such is midsummer fishing throughout much of the country.

Hot weather spoils daytime fishing and many anglers take advantage of the cool night air. Crappie, white bass, walleye, black bass and trout are all taken at night, fishing under powerful lights.

Fishing with lights is not new, but until recently it wasn't too popular. The lights, hung over the sides of open fishing and pontoon boats, attract insects, many of which fall into the water.

In turn, this attracts small and large fish which feed upon insects and each other.

Trouble is, fishing among a flurry of winged critters — such as moths, mayflies and tiny gnats — isn't the most pleasant thing to do if bugs bug you.

So that you'll enjoy night fishing, angling experts pass along some tricks of the trade that'll reduce the bug problem and hopefully increase your catch.

It's important to keep the lights away from the boat. This can be accomplished by placing them at the ends of six-foot-long wood of aluminum booms clamped to the gunwales.

For a more simple arrangement, mount several rod holders to the gunwales so they point outward, then hang the lights from the ends of cane poles set in the holders.

Youth Bowling accepts registration

Registration for the Lodge Lanes' Youth Bowling League in Belleville will be conducted next Tuesday (Aug. 24) from 6 to 8 p.m. at the lanes, located at I-94 and the service drive.

New bowlers, ages seven to 18, are needed for league play, beginning Sept. 11 and running each Saturday. All veteran bowlers must confirm their return to the league during registration.

For more information on the Youth League, contact Lodge Lanes at 697-9178.

provement over their debut, but their potential still hasn't been plucked ripe. A four-song EP, titled "Carnival," will be released in two weeks or so. It'll consist of three tunes off the current release and one from their first album, all remixed by Bob Clearmountain, who's skills are widely known.

"We feel some of it, like the first pressing of 'Hungry Like The Wolf' 45, sounds a little thin."

Ohter gems on the new record include the title cut; "Rio," "New Religion," which is subtitled "A dialogue between the ego and the alter ego," and also a song called "Hold Back The Rain." The latter's lyrics seemed to me to be a disillusionment with fame.

"People tell me, I haven't changed at all
But I don't feel the same
And I bet you've had that feeling too
You just can't laugh all the time"

"Actually," Nick Rhodes said, "you're close. It's about touring and pulling together in tough times. People have chipped away at us and the press has had goes at us, but we never let it get to us THAT much. ... it's about our strength to carry on despite everything."

As for the live show, it too is good. Many young bands in the position of Duran Duran would crack, having been used to playing clubs, which are small, intimate, and filled with fans, and now suddenly exposed to nonchalant stadium crowds on a cross-country jaunt opening for Blondie.

"We haven't even had one sound check yet," he said, "but we don't mind too much. It's great just to be here."

Wayne Ford Civic captures national NABF title

Champs rip Baltimore in Word Series finale

A team that barely qualified for the tournament was crowned world champs.

Truly, a "Cinderella Team", the Wayne Ford Civic League's entry in the National Amateur Baseball Federation's Junior Baseball Tournament wound up capturing the coveted championship over the weekend by sweeping four games in the final series.

"I can't believe it," said manager Jerry Pitcher, a transplant from Ohio who has been coaching baseball for 14 years. "It was terrific. Just terrific. We're all so proud of these kids.

"I've been coaching here for seven years and this is the greatest moment of my coaching career."

Wayne trounced Baltimore 12-1 in the championship game behind Mike Kruso's three-hit pitching to seal the title. Kruso had fanned one and walked eight and helped his cause with two key hits.

The Wayne Ford Civic League ball club barely qualified for the World Series played between teams that qualified from regional competitions. The local team had a mediocre league record but added batting power in the form of eligible five pick-up players proved to be the right move.

Wayne edged New York's Bayside entry 4-3, then humbled Baltimore 9-2 in the double elimination series. The champs got past Plymouth Canton 10-7, then drew a bye and clashed with Baltimore again in the finals.

Carlo Boniferno, a 6-0, 170-pound backstop for the champ, was awarded the tournament's Most Valuable Player trophy, while teammate Keith Riling, who batted .530 for the series, was given the "Batting Champ" award.

They're WYAA baseball champs

The Major Minor All-Stars of the Central West routed their counterparts from central East 16-9 to capture the 1982 Westland Youth Athletic Association baseball championship. Members of the team are: Keith Perez (first row, from left), Kevin Hamilton, Tom Conkright, Scott Hawthorne, David Estep, and Jeff Malin; second row are Jimmy Gains, Jason Skrum-

Wayne women's softball

Tracy chalks up shutout

Betsy Tracy twirled a three-hitter and posted a rare shutout as league-leading Tastee Freeze destroyed Greg's 11-0 in a Wayne Class A Women's Softball game last week.

Tastee Freeze received outstanding hitting performances from Kim Schwartz and Cindy Griffin who collected six of the 15 hits their teammates managed off of loser Wendy Addly.

Schwartz belted a homer and two singles while Griffin came away with three hits.

Pat Bledsoe held Greg's to two harmless hits as Tastee Freeze erupted for 17 hits en route to a 20-0 victory over Greg's. Lori Newmann hammered two roundtrippers and batted in five runs while Wendy Reynolds chipped in with four singles and three RBIs.

Schwartz had a single, double and triple and Ginny Hathorne knocked in four runs with a triple and a single.

Mr. Steak got hot in the fourth inning and scored eight times to humble Reighard's 17-3 as Ann Ceane belted a pair of homers for two of her three hits. Mary Porter accounted for two RBIs thanks to a single and triple.

In an earlier game, Mr. Steak proved to Reighard it has title ambitions as they again plastered their rivals 19-1. Winning pitcher Mary Porter helped her cause with a homer and single.

Reighard averted the shutout when it put its only run on the scoreboard in the second inning.

Andrey Gasdorf chipped in two singles and Mary Sotala chased home five runs with a pair of singles and a sacrifice fly.

Schewe's Class "A" champ in Wayne

Schewe's hammered out 17 hits to chalk up its 17th victory in 21 starts and captured the 1982 version of the Wayne Parks and Recreation Men's Class A Softball Championship.

With Gary Schewe driving in three runs with a homer and two singles and Steve Moran's pair of triples and single, the league-leaders buried last place Perkins Engines 13-1 to wind up the regular season one-game above challenger, Greg's Emergency Room, which finished a close second (16-5).

Greg's scored four times in the second and added six runs in the fifth to turn back Jake's Lounge 10-4. They finished in the league runner-up spot.

Pittman's, 15-6 on the year, got a homer and two RBIs from Terry Patterson and three hits from Pat Bledsoe as they stopped Star Optical 12-5 in their final encounter of the 1982 campaign.

Star wasted Larry Hura's three singles, dropping a close 8-7 decision to Metro Merchants earlier in the week.

Mitch's Party Store managed to come up with the best won-lost ratio (15-3) to capture the Men's Class B championship, while in the Men's Class C title race, Red Legs and Northside Merchants wound up with identical 12-4 records and a playoff will be needed to determine that division's championship.

Playoff-bound Fiesta Lanes ousts Hunter-Wayne from path

Fiesta Lanes made their four hits count. Scoring one and their only run in the bottom of the fifth, the playoff-bound ball club shut out Hunter-Wayne Party Store 1-0 to advance to the 1982 Westland Class C playoffs.

Although winning pitcher Mike McManaman gave up a total of 10 hits, his defense managed to back him up to win the crucial game. McManaman scored the only run in the game when Gary Schrum belted a long fly ball to centerfield.

Losing pitcher Dave Gillies also served up a double to Rich Sharp and a single to Greg Piscopink.

Terry O'Neill's three hits and John Pfeiffer's two singles were wasted by Hunter-Wayne.

Fiesta Lanes advances to the playoffs which will get underway this week.

In other Class "C" action, Krazy Roses pounded out 23 hits off of loser Bill Borer en route to a 23-11 victory over Snafu. Keith McNanaway hammered an over-the-fence homer, tripled and singled and accounted for five runs batted in for the winners. Teammate Max Riehl had four RBIs while Jim Green got aboard four times on a double and three singles.

Riehl, the winner, was tagged for a homer by Bob Getchez who also had two other hits. Bruce Chekin laced three singles and had two RBIs, while Bill Bozer checked in with a pair of runs batted in thanks to a double and triple.

In the meantime, the Pour Devils edged Apartment Services 4-3 in a women's Class A match-up as each team collected 11 hits. Winner Wendy Reynolds delivered two doubles to Chris Nadolski while Donna Lee belted a pair of singles. Shen De-Franzenchi carded two RBIs thanks to a two-bagger.

Jackie Randall and Maureen Schwonn each had two hits and Sue Dubbe singled home a run for the winners. Cathy Johnson was charged with the loss.

Chuck's-A-Plus blew a 4-0 lead as Binnies rallied for five runs in the fifth inning to edge their Class A foes, 6-5. Again, both teams had an identical 11-hit assault with Maureen Schuman surviving to get credit for the win.

Schuman was touched for three hits, including a double and two RBIs by Kathy Howard. Teammates Stephine Hyers and Lori Pfeiffer split four singles between them.

Beth Tracy took the loss as she

Capt. Nemos retains Romulus city title

Steve Sheridan clubbed a pair of homers and Capt. Nemo scored a total of seven runs in the first two innings as the defending playoff champ humbled Romulus City Drugs 20-7 to retain the Romulus Class A men's softball playoff title.

For all purposes the showdown between the two Class A archrivals appeared over early in the game when Capt. Nemos' battery pounded starter Jay Barton for 18 hits. Sheridan led the assault with his two homers, but Jamie Hinajosa and Lonnie Fater also helped in Barton's demise.

Fater had a total of four hits, including a round-tripper, a pair of doubles, and a single for three runs batted in. Hinajosa drilled a single, double and homer and missed hitting for the cycle when he failed to get the three-bagger.

fifth to go ahead once again, 7-5, but City Drugs' six run sixth inning rally proved to be Bilal's undoing.

Larry Chesno and Ron Buckley each homered for the winners while Hayniak laced four singles off of loser, Gibson. Mel Allen and Ric Talley had an excellent day as they pounded Barton for two roundtrippers apiece.

Collecting a total of 20 hits, Romulus City Drugs also ended Demyan Antiques season 16-5 as winning pitcher Mike McCloskey held the losers to six hits. Chris Syers got three of those — all singles — and Steve Semyan banged out a triple and double.

Barton, Tom and Mike McCloskey finished the night with three singles each off of loser Scotty Knight.

Earlier, Bilal's managed to break a 4-all tie to knock off Romulus City Drugs 7-4 behind John Haley's 9-hit pitching effort. Jay Barton got a triple and Whaley and Larry Chesno each had doubles for the losers.

Winning pitcher Tom Block was tagged for 20 hits with Rog Handniak and Tom McCloskey each collecting two. However, Jim Whaley caused most of the problems with his homer and single which ignited a five-run seventh inning rally.

Romulus City Drugs qualified for the finals by getting past Bilal's 11-10 thanks to a six-run sixth inning surge. Hurler Kevin Gibson, who had collected three hits, had blanked Romulus City Drugs for three innings before the winners tilted the scoreboard five times in the fourth to take a narrow 5-4 lead.

Bilal's countered with a three-run

Barton found trouble in Allen's bat which accounted for a homer and two singles. Mike Love had a triple and a pair of singles and Darnell Hearst laced two hits for the winners.

Captain Nemos in the meantime qualified for the finals by trashing Demyan's 21-8 as Hinajosa and Fater each drilled two homers and Joe Dreman had a roundtripper. The champs also dumped Bilal's 12-2.

97,000 senior high school athletes to begin fall sports

The Michigan High School Athletic Association reported that, beginning August 16, over 97,000 Michigan senior high school students will begin fall sports. Over 32,800 girls will begin practice in the sports of basketball, cross country, tennis, and swimming. Over 64,800 boys will begin practice in football, golf, cross country, and soccer.

Michigan public and nonpublic schools have a long, enviable record of sponsoring interscholastic athletic programs for high school students. Even though there have been athletic cutbacks due to a shortage of funds, it appears that 1982-83 will be a banner year for students participating in interscholastic athletic programs.

Many schools have retained full varsity programs for senior high athletes because they know it will be the last opportunity for those students to compete on school-sponsored teams. Some schools have been forced to reduce competition at the lower levels until they work out a plan for needed funds. It has often been said that the school-sponsored program is the only opportunity for most students to experience the values of a competitive athletic program.

Figures taken from a senior high school participation survey last year indicated there will be over 48,000 boys participating in football, 5,800 in golf, 8,100 in cross country, and 2,500 in soccer. The girls programs will include over 18,900 in basketball, 3,000 in cross country, 5,600

Playoff champs

When East meets West

In recognition of McDonald's support of the 2nd Annual East-West All Star Football game, Don Lessner, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association, presents commemorative plaques to Al Fellhauer, president of the Michigan McDonald's owner/operators. Proceeds from the game benefit the Michigan Ronald McDonald House (tm), a home-away-from-home for use by families whose children are undergoing treatment or tests at nearby hospitals. The West team won the All Star game 25-22.

Wayne's Grapefruit League champs

Jamie Earns and Bobby Borders; third row are Chris Poplin, Tommy Borders, and Tom McGlade, assistant coach, and Jamie Smith, coach. Not available at the time of the photo are choaches Ron Hayes and J. B. Smith. The Cougars dropped the playoff title to the Saints who represented the Kaline Division in the championship game.

Sonar's captures Canton 'A' softball playoff championship

Sonar Softball Club, the regular season Class "A" champion, swept through the Canton playoffs in high-fashion taking three straight games to capture the title.

In the finals, Sonar defeated K & J Sportswear 8-4 behind a 14-hit attack.

Bob Sny led the way with four hits while Bob Sobodnick, Lis Kenny and John Tymczak had three hits apiece.

Gary Pawefski paced K & J with 3 hits.

Sonar had defeated K & J earlier in the playoffs 12-6 on Greg Morlan's 4 RBI's and they won their first round game over Falzon Electric 4-0.

K & J Sportswear had advanced with a 6-5 come back victory over Bonanza Wine & Deli in the first round.

In Canton Parks and Recreation Department's Annual Festival "Scramble Golf Tournament, 48 golfers competed for honors and the team of John Domka, Joe Gumbis and Gary Palis of Canton took top honors with a fine 7-under total of 65.

They used a fine back nine score of 6-under 30 to post their 7-under total.

Second place belonged to the team of Fred Blankenship, Les Breeden and Dave Breeden of Plymouth with a 6-under total of 66.

Third place went to Steve Doods, Randy Belt and Mike Sharp with a 5-under total of 67.

Gary Palis also won one of the closest to the pin contests with a fine shot on hole number 15 and Lee Hunter won the longest drive contest at the Fellows Creek Golf Course.

Canton to sponsor softball, racquetball

The Canton Parks and Recreation is sponsoring fall softball leagues and men and women's racquetball league competitions scheduled to begin the first week of September.

The fall softball league will be in operation twice a week on Monday and Wednesday, and Tuesday and Thursday. There is a $125 per team registration fee.

A sponsor's trophy will be awarded to the two divisional champs.

For further information and registration material, contact the recreation department at 397-1000 between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The women's racquetball league will get underway on Sept. 7; the men's will begin play one day later. Both leagues will play at 7:30 p.m.

There is a $72 per person fee and competition will continue for 13 weeks at the Rose Shores courses.

Romulus Senior All-Stars

Belleville girls runner-up at state softball tourney

Belleville Senior Girls League Softball team earned the distinction of "bridesmaids" of the 1982 Senior League State Tournament held last week in Gaylord.

The local entry, coached by George Roberts, finished second to Georgetown which captured the state title.

The All-Star entry, made up of players between the ages of 13 to 15, won their opener 2-1 at the expense of St. Clair Shores, however, dropped their next game in a thriller, 5-4, to the eventual champ, Georgetown.

Belleville came back in the double-elimination series to beat Fenton 6-3 but then lost 2-0 to Georgetown in the rematch.

Coaches Roberts and Sherman Smith said they were pleased with their team's over-all performance.

Members of the team included: Debbie Summer, Jill Pence, Denise

Smith, Cathi Habel, Dawn Jajac, Judy Wisniewski, Lori Shreckengost, Robbie Mitchell, Tanya Vega, Beckie Mott, Jill Parent, Sherri Charkiewicz, Gina Forest and Tammy Curtis.

Van Buren signs up players

Van Buren to host open net tourney

Van Buren Parks and Recreation Department, in cooperation with the Belleville Jaycees, will sponsor a Labor Day weekend mixed doubles tennis tournament.

Players are invited to register for the competitions at the Van Buren Recreation offices located in the township hall.

"Getting township residents involved in community sports is our main goal", said Recreation Director Mark Rairick. "We'd like to see more family participation and make this an annual event. Everyone will play plenty of tennis in the preliminary round robin matches."

The Belleville area Jaycees will be directing operations throughout the event and will award trophies to the finalists.

For further information and registration, contact the Parks & Recreation Department at 699-2001.

Van Buren women's softball title race down to last game

They'll need a third game to decide who'll wear the Van Buren women's softball playoff crown this year.

In the best of the three-game series, Beck's Party Store and Lincoln/Mercury Krug's split in two cliffhangers that necessitated the third and final game.

In the first game, Paula Stechschulte and Debi Cammet of Beck's both collected two hits in a game that was plagued by many walks.

However, after the second inning, Krug's pitcher, Janet Ryand, allowed only three hits, letting in only one final run for Becks.

With Beck's collecting seven runs in the first two innings and holding Krugs to 5 runs, after walking 12 batters, Beck's emerged the winner, 8-5.

In a second, the outcome was decided when Tammy Krug drilled a home run and two base hits to help push Krugs to a 11 to 9 win over Beck's.

Shortstop Linda Budimerovick also helped Krugs by collecting two hits.

Beck's pitcher, Sharyn Guthrie, was plagued by eight walks. She had problems finding the strike zone.

In the second inning, Krug's catcher Tracy Vaught was taken to the hospital after getting hit in the elbow by a bat. Krugs exploded in the third inning as D.D. Coppock, Janet Ryan walked and Katie Blossom blasted a double, Tracy Vaught, Linda Budimerovick, and Tammy Krug followed with base hits and when the dust settled, seven runs had crossed the plate.

The final women's play-off game between Krugs and Becks was scheduled for Tuesday, August 17 at 6:30 p.m. at Van Buren Park on Field 3.

North tames South on Hill's no-hitter

While the scores are the same as last year, there was a big difference in the performances during the annual and traditional clash between the Romulus North and South Little League ball clubs.

Romulus North Seniors captured the coveted city championship as pitcher Eric Hill fired a no-hitter.

Romulus South won the Major League game, 6-2 while in the Senior Division Romulus North, with the no-hit pitching of Hill, humbled the South by a 3-1 margin.

Besides pitching a great game, Hill helped his own cause by blasting out two hits. Teammate — Matt Schick also chipped in two hits.

Don Schults and Bob Sloan also had hits for North.

The closest South came was in the seventh inning when South had two men on base with two outs.

South losing pitcher Tony Yandura gave up three runs, six hits, and struck out five, while walking only two batters.

Hill in throwing the no-hitter, gave up an unearned run, struck out 10, South Batters, and walked five.

The manager of the North Senior and City Champions is Tom Vernatt, and coach is Al Boatwright.

Williams, and Jerry Hollis. The team sponsor is Romulus City Drigs.

This is the second year the team has won both titles.

In an earlier game, the South Major League Champions repeated as City champs by downing North 6-2. Winning pitcher was Doug Clark; losing the contest was North's Jack Daniel. The game featured a solo home run by Joe D'Ambrose.

CONGRATULATIONS ARE WELL deserved by the 4-H Fair winners, participants, and volunteers. Competition is tough 4-Hers, so start now for next year's Fair. Give it all you got! Associated Newspapers.

Who in the world could put up with Karen Prieskorn for 19 years? Thank you, Gordon, for being the greatest husband there is.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY

Dear Uncle Orphan Ollie: Sure hope you find your rich uncle soon! I could use a helping hand to pay for my college tuition this month. Thank you.

Your Poor Nephew Howie.

OLLIE: IS your last name Fretter? SIGNED: Just wandering.

Dear $Friends$,

Why is it that when someone comes into money, everyone gets their hands in the cookie jar? I've been an orphan for 24 years, and now in just 3 weeks, 47 people have tried to adopt me. Do you love money or me?

Ollie, The orphan with the largest family tree

Dear Aunt Flabbe: You don't have your hand in Ollie's cookie jar do you? We're keeping our eyes on you.
